Turkey Denies Charges

Denies Statements Of Syrians About Incidents; Chinese Reds Heard From

By UNITED PRESS

The Turkish government has accused Syria of lack of "good faith" and simultaneously has denied violating the Syrian border, it was disclosed today.

A note delivered in Damascus Thursday revealed that Turkey told the Syrians "security measures such as troop movements and maneuvers within our own territory are purely an internal affair" and "no interference in this field is permissible."

The note said no Turkish planes had flown over Syrian territory as charged by Damascus and that "Turkish armed forces have not opened fire on Syrian territory or population."

Pointing out that procedure to settle border incidents was long established, the note said Syria's recourse to diplomatic channels was an "action which was devoid of good faith" and was "ample justification of Turkey's concern about events taking place in Syria."

Red China Enters Act

Communist China meantime, said it would go to Syria's aid if Syria is attacked.

Communist China said today it would go to Syria's aid if Syria is attacked.

A Peiping Radio broadcast heard in London said Chinese Communist leader Mao Tze-Tung pledged that the Peiping regime would "resolutely support the joint struggle of the Syrian peoples to defend their independence and peace."

Peiping Radio warned the United States was "risking the danger of starting a war" and said "in the era of intercontinental guided missiles . . . it would not escape heavy blows as it did during the last two world wars."

"America's allies also may be the targets of these guided missiles—and this is something which they should seriously consider," Peiping said.

Turkey Assures Syria

In Damascus a Syrian government official disclosed that Turkey had given formal assurances it did not plan to attack Syria, but he said a Turkish note delivered yesterday was another example of "inteference in our affairs."

The statement came from acting Syrian Foreign Minister Khalil Kallas. He took exception to the wording of the note which said Turkey was "concerned" at the "Syrian attitude" and at "what is taking place in Syria."

"We regard this as interference in our affairs," Kallas said.

New charges that the United States Sixth Fleet and Turkey were making "provocations" against Syria came today in Cairo from the six million strong International Federation of Arab Labor Unions.

The federation said it cabled President Eisenhower asking him to use his "good offices" to avert a Middle East war and threatening to cut Western oil supplies if Syria is attacked.

"Beware our wrath," the Federation told Eisenhower.

Woman Driver Damages Home

Rose Marie Krusec, 1136 Dennis Ave., Monessen, told police she was traveling west on Donner Ave. about 5 p. m. yesterday when she lost control of the car and crashed into the front porch of a home occupied by Nick Sage, 272 East Donner Ave.

The porch was badly damaged as was the front end of the car.

The driver received no apparent injuries, according to police.

Strikers Set For Long Pull In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Striking trolley and bus operators, indicating they would stay out indefinitely to win wage demands gave a rousing show of confidence in their union leadership Thursday.

The strikers, members of Division 85, Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes, cheered their union leaders loud and long at a mass membership meeting.

Gilbert A. Teitel, union business representative, set the tenor of the meeting. He blamed C.D. Palmer, Pittsburgh Railways Company president, for "forcing" the 2,200 trolley and bus operators and maintenance personnel to walk out last Monday.

". . .We are prepared to strike until we win our fight, no matter how long it takes," Teitel said.

The company had offered the union a wage increase of 16 cents an hour plus "freezing" of a current 4-cent cost-of-living adjustment in a two-year contract. The union countered with demands for a 31-cent increase. After the strike however, the union reverted to an original demand of 36 cents per hour.

The five-day strike has deprived Pittsburgh of nearly all its mass public transportation facilities.

G. Harry Young, federal mediator, has indicated he will call both sides together Monday to resume bargaining.

In addition to the pay increases, the union is asking for fringe benefits, including vacation and holiday pay adjustments, accumulative sick leave and an accident and sickness plan.

Civic Music Drive Is Launched Here

About 80 canvassers are at work today throughout the Monongahela Valley seeking new members of the Monessen-Belle Vernon Civic Music Association.

Their goal is 1,000 members in the organization which, for the sixth year, will stage a winter series of concerts at the Monessen High School auditorium.

The campaign was launched at a workers dinner last night at Johnson's Restaurant with four Monessen industrial and business firms picking up the tab as hosts.

Mrs. Paul Latkanich, Civic Music president, and Mrs. Willard Krasik, campaign chairman, issued instructions to the workers.

James Browning, regional director of Civic Concert Service, Inc., of New York, with which Civic Music is affiliated, also spoke concerning plans for the drive.

Ends Next Saturday

The campaign ends and the membership will close one week from tomorrow. Only members are admitted to the concerts, of which there probably will be four again this season, it was explained.

Others who spoke briefly were Frank P. Ezerski, who represented the city administration; Harry R. Pore Jr. and Dr. Michael Duda, past presidents of Civic Music.

Mrs. Latkanich reported that pre-campaign renewals by former members are more than double those of last year, pointing to continued high interest in the concerts.

The membership is now open on a first-come, first-served basis but

Roscoe Trio Is Charged with Theft Attempt

Edward Santo, 21, and two juveniles, all of Roscoe, were arrested for the attempted burglary of DiFlorio's service station in Allenport early yesterday morning, state police reported today.

Police said they received a telephone tip about 1 a.m. yesterday that a window had been broken in the service station, and two troopers were dispatched to investigate.

Upon arrival, they found Santo sitting in a car nearby. The two juveniles fled but were later implicated by Santo during police questioning.

The station is owned by William DiFlorio, Grand Blvd., Monessen, and is located on Route 88 in Allenport.

Police said nothing was taken.

Santo has been placed in Washington County jail and the juveniles were turned over to juvenile authorities.

Donora Offices Are Burglarized

The offices of four Donora professional men were burglarized sometime yesterday morning, Donora police revealed today. The offices are located in a three-story building at Fifth St. and McKean Ave.

Only a small amount of money was reported missing.

Offices burglarized belong to Dr. Ralph Koehler, Dr. Deweese Brown, Dr. Harold Cherkin and Atty. George Frazier.

Except for jimmied doors, no damage was done to the offices, it was said.

Southern Crowd Cheers Anti-Segregation Talk

JACKSON, Miss. (UP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) received a standing ovation from a Deep South audience Thursday night at the end of a speech in which he expressed his opposition to school segregation.

The young New Englander, sometimes considered a possible Democratic presidential candidate in 1960, addressed an overflow crowd of about 2,000 at a statewide rally of Mississippi Young Democrats.

In his talk he responded to a statement by State Republican Chairman Wirt Yerger Jr. that he should be put on the spot about how he feels on the racial issue.

"I have no hesitancy in telling him the same thing I have said in my own city of Boston—that I have accepted the Supreme Court decision on segregation as the supreme law of the land," he said.

"I know we do not agree on that but I think most of us do agree on the necessity to uphold law and order in every part of the land."

He also said the North and South both will recognize "that what unites us is greater than what divides us" and that the Democratic Party "always will have disagreements."

"Now I invite the Republican chairman to tell us his views and those of President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon," Kennedy said.

He went on to lambast the administration's foreign and domestic policies and at the end of his brief talk the crowd gave him a standing ovation. The throng had crowded into a reception to shake his hand before the banquet meeting.

Kennedy said the Eisenhower administration has adopted a foreign policy of "retreat and regret and retrenchment" and has not been frank with the public on how we stand in the arms race with Russia.

Check Passer Gets Six Years In the Workhouse

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — Judge Richard D. Laird today sentenced three Westmoreland County men in separate cases ranging from passing worthless checks to resisting arrest.

Albert C. Belisky Jr., Greensburg, drew a six-year term in the Allegheny County Workhouse after pleading guilty to passing 15 bad checks last September in stores and service stations in Jeannette, Irwin, Hempfield Twp. and Greensburg. The checks totaled $471.

Joseph Glotnis, New Kensington, was placed on probation for one year after pleading guilty to carrying firearms without a permit. He was arrested in a New Kensington tavern last Sept. 26 on complaint of his wife and was found carrying an unloaded revolver.

Leonard J. Mazenko, of Avonmore, was sentenced to 30 days in jail after pleading guilty to resisting arrest. Greensburg Patrolman Lloyd Shupe said Mazenko tried to kick him in the leg when he tried to arrest him last Sept. 10 for hit-run driving.

Monoxide Kills Parents; Child Clings to Life

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A little girl clung to life today, in serious condition with carbon monoxide poisoning which killed her mother and father.

Rene Romaine, who will be three next month, and her parents were found overcome Thursday afternoon in their North Side apartment filled with carbon monoxide fumes from a kitchen stove.

The father, John Romaine, 31, was pronounced dead on the scene. The mother, Louise, 24, died this morning in Allegheny General Hospital where doctors fought to save the life of little Rene.

Police, summoned to the Romaine apartment by a friend of the father's, found Romaine's pajama clad body in bed. His wife, also clad in night clothes, lay on the floor beside Rene's crib. Rene lay in the crib.

A burner on the kitchen stove was burning with a high flame. A toaster was on the stove.

The coroner's office said the deaths apparently were accidental. It said an inquest would be held.

State Inspector Of Mines Dies

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UP)—J.V. McKenna, inspector for the state Bureau of Mines in Greene County, died today at Greene County Memorial Hospital.

McKenna had served as deputy secretary of mines for Pennsylvania for a brief period last year and was well known in the mine safety field.

Queen Sees Art Gallery

Is Welcomed by Warren; Philip Receives Medal of Geographic Society

WASHINGTON (UP)— Queen Elizabeth II exercised today, for the first time on her American tour, a royal and womanly prerogative. She was 10 minutes late to her 9:55 a.m. appointment at the National Gallery of Art.

The visiting British royal couple, smiling broadly despite the rigors of their schedule, set out on their separate ways in a light "English rain."

The young Queen, wearing a fur-trimmed brown velvet coat, toured 24 galleries of the art gallery.

She received a ceremonial welcome from Chief Justice Earl Warren, 15 gallery trustees and donors, and the wives of the chief justice, the secretary of state and the secretary of the Treasury.

Also running a few minutes late, President Eisenhower presented Prince Philip the National Geographic Society's gold medal for service to geography at a White House ceremony.

Rain forced the ceremony indoors from the rose garden where it had been scheduled. It was held in the cabinet room instead.

Cites World Trips

The medal was inscribed, "To H R.H. The Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburg, whose questing spirit has taken him to the far corners of the globe and brought to millions a better understanding of our planet and its people."

The prince responded:

"I really don't deserve it because I know what others have done to get it, and my contributions are very small."

Dr. Melville Bell Grosvenor, president of the society, explained that Philip was given the award primarily for his four - month, 40,000-mile trip to remote areas of the world last year. The November issue of the society's magazine carries an article about the trip with an introduction by the prince.

Down Constitution Avenue, the Queen was "doing" the art gallery—in high heel shoes—a tiring project even for art lovers.

Director John Walker emphasized the works of British artists.

Sees Favorite Work

The Queen recognized one of her favorite Blake paintings, "The Assumption of Our Lady," which normally hangs in Windsor Castle.

"Here it is," she exclaimed.

The Queen was accompanied by Mrs. John Diefenbaker, wife of the Canadian prime minister, and the entire group of trustees, donors and official greeters at the gallery. Among the donors was Mrs. George D. Widener, who kept pace with the gallery tour in a wheel chair.

From the art gallery the Queen

Judge to Say If Millenium Has Arrived

LANCASTER, Pa. UP — The way was cleared Thursday for Judge John L. Bowman, of Lancaster County Orphans Court, to rule on whether the millenium has arrived.

Bowman closed the auditing of the estate of the late Mathilda J. Painter of Lebanon.

Miss Painter's will stated that if the millenium, which she termed "The Rapture," has occurred, the $37,000 estate will go toward the Christianizing of Hebrews. If Bowman rules the millenium is not here, the money must go to certain institutions and individuals.

In an earlier hearing, Judge Bowman called a clergyman and other witnesses to testify in court whether the millenium has occurred.

Jury to Begin Consideration Of Fight Death

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A Criminal Court jury of four men and eight women is expected today to begin deliberation in the case of Andrew R. Snavely, 22, charged with the fist fight death of a Clairton man.

Snavely, a McKeesport, Pa., exparatrooper, was charged with inflicting fatal injuries to Steve Goca, 35, in a fight Oct. 11, 1956 outside a McKeesport club. The trial was being held before Judge Harry M. Montgomery.

The fight, Snavely said, was over the affections of Violet Preston, 25, also of McKeesport. She said Snavely accompanied her from the club and that Goca, "who was jealous," ran after them.

She testified she had informed Goca earlier that she was not going to dance with him, and that he became angry.

Snavely told the jury Goca "grabbed my arm and swung at me three or four times." He said he struck back and Goca fell down.

Snavely denied slugging Goca while on the ground. Goca died a short time later in McKeesport Hospital.

Trucker Freed In 'Pike Deaths

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Thurman D. Korns, 27, of Stoyestown, Somerset County, was cleared by a coroner's jury Thursday in the deaths of five persons killed in a Pennsylvania Turnpike collision.

All five victims were occupants of an automobile which crossed the medial strip on the Turnpike in nearby Plum Borough Sept. 20 and collided head-on with a tractor-trailer operated by Korns.

The victims were members of two Oregon families who had moved recently to New York State.

Woman Dies in Hospital

Mother of Local Minister on Way From Michigan To Make Home Here

One woman was killed and several persons injured in a series of motor accidents last night and this morning in the Monessen district.

Dead is Mrs. Maria Joensuu, 79, mother of the Rev. Mathias Joensuu, pastor of St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Monessen.

Mrs. Joensuu died this morning about 10 o'clock in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital from injuries suffered about eight hours earlier in a two-car collision on the Monessen-Webster Road, one mile north of Monessen. She died from multiple head, body and leg injuries and shock.

State police said Mrs. Joensuu was riding in a car driven by her son when it was sideswiped by a vehicle traveling in the opposite direction and operated by Walter Kaczmarek, 20, of 442 McCrea Ave., Donora.

Car Skidded

According to police, Kaczmarek skidded on the rainy highway and slammed into the Joensuu car. The impact threw the pastor's mother from the car and pinned her between her son's car and a guard rail.

The Rev. Mr. Joensuu, and his wife, Helmi, who was with him, received body and face bruises and were released after treatment at the hospital.

Kaczmarek suffered body bruises and cuts about the face and was detained at the hospital.

The victim was on her way from Dollar Bay, Mich., to make her future home with her son when the accident happened less than two miles from their destination.

Funeral arrangements and other details were not available at noon today.

Blinded by Lights

In one of the other accidents, Thomas Kotch, 27, R. D. 1, Belle Vernon, told police he was traveling on old Route 71 near Rostraver Twp. High School about 1:30 this morning when he was temporarily blinded by glaring headlights of an oncoming car, causing him to leave the highway and turn over in a ditch.

Kotch escaped with minor chest, neck and lip injuries and was released after treatment at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

The car was a total wreck.

A car operated by Edward W. Shultz, 25, Kennedy avenue, Cleveland, O., failed to negotiate a curve in Route 40 about a mile west of Scenery Hill at 1:35 p. m. yesterday, ran off the road and

Lions Club Endorses Library

Monessen's Lions Club went on record at its regular meeting last night as favoring the $200,000 bond issue for the proposed new public library here.

The club also announced it would contribute $500 to the Community Fund this year.

Chairman Paul Lucas and Co-chairman Steve Tkachik of the X-Ray Committee informed the members that chest x-rays would be available on Oct. 28, 29 and 30. The x-ray unit will be stationed at Sixth St. between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

The date was set for the charter night banquet. This year's 10th annual fete is to be held at Twin Coaches on Thursday, Nov. 14. Anthony Todaro, Gus Arcuri and Michael Hulick are co-chairmen of the banquet committee.

Kiddies Show

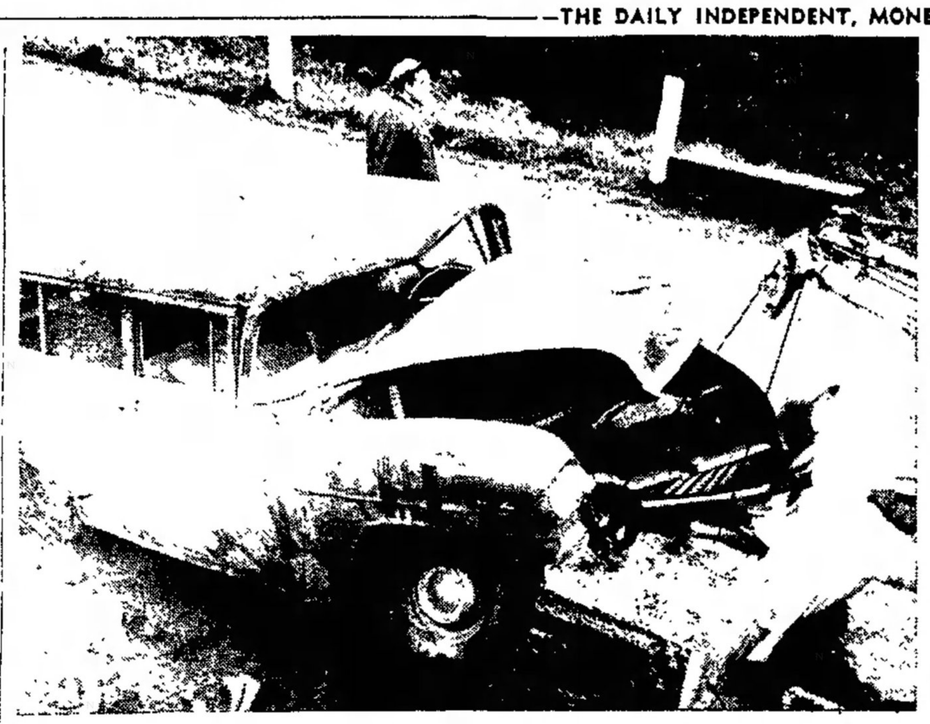
A kiddies show at the Manos Theater was announced for Saturday morning, Nov. 30, with the admission price to be a can of food, which will be used in the Lions' annual Christmas basket project.

Other action last night included the planning of a boxing show in the High School gymnasium in the near future, co-sponsored by the Rostraver Lions; announcement of plans for the Lions Club float in the annual Halloween Parade; announcement of the carnival date for next year as the week of May 5; and a membership committee meeting immediately following the regular meeting.

Edward Lhota addressed the members on Lionism, stressing the fact that the local Lions are entrusted with a duty to serve the community of Monessen.

President Dan Salotti presided over the meeting.



CAR WRECKS ON OLD ROUTE 71 — The driver of this car, Thomas Kotch, 27, R. D., Belle Vernon, escaped serious injury when it crashed on old Route 71 near Rostraver High School this morning. Kotch told police glaring headlights of another car caused him to go off the road and over turn in a ditch. Towmen said the car is a total wreck. (Story on Page One)

Queen

was driven to Children's Hospital, where two small patients were ready to present a doll for Princess Anne and an American-style football for Prince Charles.

She and the prince were up until about 1 a.m. at the grand White House dinner, which was climaxed by a songfest led by the uncertain voices of a President and a Queen.

President Eisenhower, toasting the British sovereign and her husband at a sumptuous White House banquet Thursday night, said this country's respect for Britain was "epitomized in the affection we have for the royal family . . ."

And Eisenhower took the occasion to make what may become the West's answer to Russia's earth satellite. Labelling the scientific and cultural assets of the free world far greater than those of Communism, he called for a new scientific alliance within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to meet the threat of Russia's missile and space achievements.

Toasts Ike

The gorgeously - gowned young Queen, who toasted Eisenhower and wished him "every possible health and happiness," also did not ignore the scientific excitement caused by the Soviet "Sputnik." She pledged Britain's cooperation in the "new age of discovery and exploration in the world of human knowledge and technology" beginning to unfold.

Her majesty, incidentally, unwittingly contributed to the first snafu of her visit to the New World. The meticulous British Information Service had announced that the Queen wore to the White House dinner her "maple leaf of Canada" gown, which she had worn to a reception in Canada.

At about 3 a.m. the embarrassed British Information Service telephoned news agencies to say she hadn't worn that dress at all—it was another with some similar features. One official sadly quoted Tennyson, "Someone has blundered."

Flu Hits a Second State Institution

By UNITED PRESS

The flu epidemic spread to a second Pennsylvania institution as some 600 of the 850 patients at the Laurelton State Village for Mentally Retarded Women, were reported ill Thursday.

Dr. Robert E. Matthews, state health commissioner, said however, that about half of those stricken at the insutution in Union County have recovered.

The outlook appeared brighter at the Pennhurst State School for the Mentally Retarded where flu claimed the lives of six patients. Dr. Leopold Potkinski, superintendent of the school, said the epidemic apparently has been checked. The 1,200 cases reported earlier were reduced to 444, he said.

Sally Ann Aurentz, 15, of 205 2nd Ave., Lebanon, died at her home today of what health authorities believed may have been Asian flu. City health officer John Loehle said the girl, a sophomore at Lebanon Catholic High School, had undergone seasonal asthma which he believed had weakened her condition to the point where she contracted what he believed to be the first case of Asian flu in the city.

An autopsy was being performed by Dr. L. M. Tanner, pathologist at the Lebanon Good Samaritan Hospital.

The Pennhurst epidemic was blamed on "fumbling" and a lack of cooperation Thursday by state senator Edward J. Kessler, Lancaster County Republican. Kessler termed the outbreak "a tragedy of errors." He said the Welfare Department explained it couldn't find Asian flu vaccine when all the time there were 10,000 injections at the Property and Supplies Department.

Kessler, a member of the Senate Public Health and Welfare Committee, charged that Property and Supplies Secretary Andrew M. Bradley did not alert all state departments that he had the vaccine.

Bradley admitted the vaccine requisition for Pennhurst was received Wednesday along with some other institutions. He added that Kessler "just doesn't know what he's talking about."

He said he made emergency requests from vendors as soon as he received requisitions. He said most of the emergency shipment of 10,000 Asia Flu injections which he received was distributed to hospitals and institutions.

State Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro said the Pennhurst request was received Oct. 11 but that several days were lost because of the intervening weekend before it was sent out Wednesday.

He said the Pennhurst inmates were not inoculated with the vaccine earlier because the dosage for children and the length of effectiveness of vaccine was not determined until recently.

Kasper Jailed; To Begin Term In U. S. Prison

WASHINGTON (UP) — Segregationist John Kasper was in jail today awaiting transfer to a Federal prison to serve a one - year contempt sentence on charges growing out of the Clinton, Tenn., school integration riots last year.

He was picked up by Washington police Thursday and held for the Justice Department after a federal judge in Knoxville, Tenn., ordered his arrest.

Kasper had been free on $10,000 bond since he was convicted of criminal contempt and sentenced to a year in prison in September, 1956.

The Supreme Court Monday turned down Kasper's appeal for a rehearing of the case.

The Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati officially notified U.S. Atty. Gen. John C. Crawford of the decision and the arrest order was issued.

Edward M. Shultz, 10-month-old son of the operator suffered a cut above the left eye but it apparently was not serious, police said.

A collision about 5:45, p.m. yesterday in Route 481 about a mile south of Monongahela involved autos operated by Margaret Mayhaw, 18, Bentleyville, R. D. 1, and John Prokell, 21, also of Bentleyville.

Police said the Mayhew car failed to yield one-half the highway to the Prokell machine, which was traveling in the opposite direction.

Adenauer Bid To Break with Tito Rejected

BONN, Germany (UP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer failed to win parliamentary support for his decision to break diplomatic relations with Yugoslavia today but government sources said he would carry out his decision anyway.

Adenauer decided on the break because Marshal Tito recognized the Communist regime in East Germany.

Officials said the announcement may not come before Monday because the Bonn government wants to draft a voluminous document outlining its position and send it to Belgrade together with notification of the break.

The Chancellor informed a parliamentary committee of the government move this morning.

Ex-Detective Is Found Guilty

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Emery Toth, 38, former McKeesport city detective, was convicted by a Criminal Court jury Thursday on a burglary charge.

He was released in $6,000 bond after his attorney, Louis C. Glasso, announced the verdict would be appealed.

Toth was found in a McKeesport store April 1, 1956, by two policemen sent to investigate a report the store had been entered.

Toth told the officers he found the door open and was investigating to determine if a burglary were in progress. Nothing was taken from the store.

Visiting Judge Swirles L. Himes of Huntingdon County presided at the trial.

Ike Fayors Pooling of Free World's Science

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower called free nations to create a super scientific alliance that would far outstrip anything the Russians can produce in technological and missile achievements.

"...We have the power," the president said last night. "The only thing to do is put it together."

Eisenhower appealed specifically for a grouping of the scientists of North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) nations. But he also had in mind the total scientific manpower and resources of the free world.

"NATO should not be thought of merely as a military alliance," he said. "NATO is a way of grouping ability—of our manhood, our resources, of our industries and our factories."

Ike Speaks At Dinner

Eisenhower issued the call for scientific unity at a glittering White House dinner for Queen Elizabeth II. He also stressed the ties binding the United States and Commonwealth countries in these troubled times.

Meanwhile, a high-ranking government scientist indicated the administration is in the process of stepping up its missile and satellite programs.

There were these other developments in the missile-satellite field:

—Informed sources said scientists at Cape Canaveral, Fla., may test fire today the rocket that is to carry the U.S. satellite into space. The second and third stages of the three-stage rocket will be dummies, however, and no attempt will be made to send up a U.S. moon.

—Eisenhower planned to meet with his cabinet at a regularly scheduled session today. The satellite-missile issue was almost certain to come up for discussion.

—Scientists at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in South Pasadena, Calif., reported they have successfully photographed Sputnik's rocket.

British astronomer Dr. A. C. B. Lovell said the end of the rocket is "imminent."

While Eisenhower did not go into details on his plans for scientific alliance, he apparently favored an international organization set up along NATO lines.

"The free world is engaged in a great struggle and the total of the free world's assets are so much greater than those of the potential enemy," he said. "...that it is ridiculous to compare them..."

Dues $6 for Adults

Dues are $6 for adults and $3 for students, the same as in previous years.

It was announced that Jerome Hines, famed bass-baritone of the Metropolitan Opera, will appear here Sunday, Feb. 23, 1958. It was necessary to book Hines several months ago to be certain of a date.

The other attractions will be selected by a talent committee at the close of the membership campaign. The committee held a preliminary conference after the dinner last night.

Members have the opportunity to designate the types of programs they prefer. These preferences guide the talent committee.

Hosts for the dinner were Pittsburgh Steel Co., Page Division of American Chain & Cable Co., First Federal Savings & Loan and The Daily Independent.

Campaign headquarters is at Rosenson's store, Sixth St. and Donner Ave.

Todd Party Ends in Scramble for Presents

NEW YORK (UP)—That was a real nice clambake Mike Todd threw Thursday night, and a nice time was had by all—until the television cameras winked off and the food and presents came on.

At that time—the hour was 11:05 p.m. e.d.t.—a human menagerie of several thousand more-or-less formally dressed persons descended to the arena where wild animals of the circus perform in season. Todd had invited 18,000 "chums" to a Madison Square Garden party to celebrate the first anniversary of his film "Around the World in 80 Days."

Those who couldn't jam onto the floor watched the others, and it was a scene to behold. Jeep loads of presents were on display on the floor, presents supposed to be held for a drawing of numbers later this week. Each person with a seat ticket was to get a present from the drawing.

At 11:05, however, the looting began at one end of the arena. Men in dinner jackets broke into jeep-loaded cardboard boxes and fought for the contents. Women squealed in the human squirm. Pocketbooks, toys, cameras, liquers, and various donated knick-knacks were carried away.

We Heard It— ABOUT the VALLEY

(By The Independent News Staff)

She Is Surprised!

Overheard at a wedding reception last week:

The new bride had just finished opening all her gifts when one of the guests said to her: "I understand your husband has a new washer."

The bride expressed both surprise and delight. "What kind is it," she asked excitedly.

The wit replied, "You."

Really Happened

It happened the other day — A local newspaper employe broke up a scuffle between two newsboys and sent them on their way with the following admonishment — "Now both of you go home — and take some boxing lessons!"

Traffic Jam

You couldn't tell those persons coming through Charleroi last Friday night that the new traffic light at the North Charleroi end of the Charleroi-Monessen Bridge is a blessing.

Traffic was jammed coming from the Charleroi-Ambridge football game for 12 blocks waiting for the light to change.

It took 30 minutes to drive a few short blocks.

Wrong Railroad

There were 15 sorry persons in Belle Vernon last Saturday morning.

Most of them were kids who had gotten their parents up bright and early to catch the special Pennsylvania Railroad excursion train to Altoona and a trip around Horseshoe Curve.

When the kids bought their tickets at school they were told the train would leave Belle Vernon at a specified time. They were all there, lined up with their lunches and cameras, ready for a big day on the train

They waited and waited, but no train Then one of the mothers looked across the river, and pulling out from the Speers station was the train.

They all had forgotten that the Pennsylvania runs on the other side of the river.

Morbid Slogan

That's a morbid slogan Westmoreland County Coroner Stephen D. Yoney has circulating. It reads:

"Don't Smoke in Bed. The ashes may be your own".

An Old One

We hadn't heard this one since 1918 until one day this week:

A fellow said he had a bird friend named Enza, and he didn't become sick until he opened the window and in flew Enza.

New Plant Maybe

Look soon for an announcement concerning a firm which may be locating in the Rehoboth Valley industrial section. Monongahela Valley Enterprises Inc. officials and representatives of a Columbus, O., firm have had their heads together for several weeks now. MVAE is working on developing the section.

For a Change

T. W. Kwok, former Chinese diplomat who spoke at a Business - Industry - Education Day luncheon here yesterday, made a comment on Russia's satellite "Sputnik". It was "about time Russia started something towards heaven instead of in the other direction," said Kwok.

Allen Kline, former sports editor now city editor of the Daily Independent, is convinced he just wasn't supposed to see the Army-Notre Dame game, in person or otherwise.

It all started when he got in under the wire and obtained two tickets on the 50-yard line. But, alas, two days before the game he contracted the flu and ended up in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

By game time Saturday his condition had improved enough to be up and around and he figured at least he could see the game on television, so he sauntered over to the solarium where the TV set is located. But two women patients had beaten him to it and were intently watching the Saturday afternoon cowboy movies, refusing to change the station to the football channel!

Sewing Classes at School Called Off

Sewing classes scheduled to begin this month at Monessen High School have been called off until after Jan. 1, it was announced today by Dr. Joseph Pallone, superintendent.

Lack of instructors at this time was given as the reason for the postponement.

Persons who have registered for the course are requested to contact the superintendent's office in the high school.

'Dial Day' Sunday for Area 'Phone Users

Sunday will be "dial day" for Bell Telephone customers in the Fairhope-Arnold City area and Brough of Donora.

At 3:01 on Sunday morning, the new Gypsy mobile dial office will be placed in operation to serve some 300 customers and ease the telephone traffic now being handled by the Belle Vernon office, J. Lawrence Buchanan, local manager for the Bell Company, said today.

At the same time, new FRontier numbers will become effective for Donora telephones.

House in Trailer

The unique dial office, housed in a semi-trailer located on a Perry St. lot in Fairhope, is expected to remain in operation until the entire Belle Vernon central office area is converted to dial operation in 1959, Buchanan added.

"Only Gypsy telephones will be dial-operated," the Bell manager stated. "All other Belle Vernon telephones and telephones on multi-party lines as well as coin-operated telephones will be manually operated as at present."

He pointed out that there will be both Gypsy and Belle Vernon numbers in the area after the new office begins operations.

"There may be both a Gypsy 2552 and a Belle Vernon 2552," he explained. "All Gypsy and Belle Vernon numbers are listed in the new telephone directory."

Instructions Given

The new directory also contains instructions for making calls from both Gypsy and Belle Vernon telephones.

"Customers using manual telephones will ask the operator for the number they want to reach, stating the complete Gypsy number or Belle Vernon number," Buchanan said.

"Customers using Gypsy telephones will simply dial the four figures of the listed number to reach another Gypsy number. However, to call a Belle Vernon number from a Gypsy telephone, it will be necessary to dial the code figure "9" and then give the desired number to the operator who answers."

To reach the new FRontier numbers in Donora, customers using HUdson or MUrray telephones will dial "F-R" and the five figures of the desired number.

Customers using Gypsy and Belle Vernon telephones will place calls to the FRontier (Donora) numbers through the Operator.

A special blue dial instruction folder has been delivered to customers who will have Gypsy dial telephones, the manager stated.

Presbyterians to Hear Pittsburgh Layman Speak

A prominent Pittsburgh layman will be the speaker when the First Presbyterian Church of Monessen observes Men's Day during the regular morning worship hour Sunday.

The speaker will be Harry T. Gardner, assistant general manager of the William G. Johnston Co., a printing firm.

The service, an annual event, is being arranged by the Men's Brotherhood of the church.

Gardner has spent 20 years in the graphic arts and advertising fields in Pittsburgh except for service in the Army during World War II.

He is active in trade organizations in Pittsburgh and is a member of the Downtown Club, the National Industrial Advertisers Association, the Pittsburgh Advertising Club and the Associated Editors Society of Pittsburgh.

Gardner is an elder and clerk of session of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, vice president of the Pittsburgh Presbytery Council of Presbyterian Men and a member of the executive committee of the National Council of Presbyterian Men.

Others participating in the service will be J. Lee McVay, Edward A. Lhota, W.R.H. Patterson and Robert G. Whitfield.

Fellow Workers Hold Fete for Frank Trigiani

Fellow employes in the millwrights section of Pittsburgh Steel Company's blooming mill department in Monessen held a dinner for Frank Trigiani, who has retired after 50 years service.

The affair was held at Sons of Italy hall, 529 Sixth St. Vednesday night. Trigiani was presented with a reclining chair.

Dinner was served by Mrs. Amambile Sodi.

Following dinner, Edward Furio spoke of his long association with Trigiani and the latter's record with the firm.

The committee in charge included John Mahalko, Thomas Horan and Ronald Furio.

Layman to Speak At Sunday Service

H. Read Brightwell, Monessen sub-district lay leader of the Methodist Church, will be the guest speaker Sunday at the 10:30 morning service in the Perryopolis Methodist Church. The men of the church will entertain the men of the Fayette City Church.

The sacrament of Holy Communion will be observed at 7:30 a.m. Breakfast will follow at 8.

Since this is Laymen's Sunday, the men will also have charge of the morning service.

Hagerstrand Kwok Furio Jones

ON B-I-E DAY PROGRAM — T. W. Kwok, former Chinese diplomat and now a Pittsburgh businessman, addressed local teachers and their business and industrial hosts at Johnson's yesterday. Also speaking briefly were Charles W. Hagerstrand, Chamber of Commerce president; Henry Furio, High School principal and education chairman of the Chamber and Clifford Jones, president of the Monessen Education Association.

Teachers Pleased with Visits to Businesses

Yesterday's fourth annual Business - Industry - Education Day in Monessen was termed "very interesting and informative" today by the educators who visited local business and industrial establishments.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Monessen Education Association and school administration, B-I-E Day started with an assembly in the High School auditorium at 8:15 a.m. and ended at approximately 3 p.m.

Henry Furio, High School principal and chairman of the Chamber's education committee, said the comments he received from teachers were very satisfying

Marcella Amann, a High School instructor who toured the Monessen plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co., said:

'Very Impressive'

"The tour showed me how fortunate Monessen is to have such a huge industry as Pittsburgh Steel. Now that I have toured the many departments in the plant, I have a better understanding of working conditions in steel mills. The tour was very impressive. I just wish there had been time for me to visit every department."

Another instructor, Marjory Chalfant who visited the Manos Theater, said B-I-E Day is a "wonderful public relations service."

She said theater officials suggested to her that she, as a guidance counselor, recommend the electronics field to male students.

"A tour such as myself and other teachers made yesterday gives us a better chance to help guide students in selecting careers," Miss Chalfant added.

Yesterday's tours were interrupted at noon for a luncheon sponsored by participating firms at Johnson's Restaurant. Guest speaker was T. W. Kwok, former Chinese diplomat now associated with a Pittsburgh securities firm

Charles W. Hagerstrand, Chamber president, and Clifford Jones, MEA president, both said today they were "very well pleased" with yesterday's program and the spirit of cooperation that was shown among those participating

Bridge Rail Falls On Deck of Boat

A section of iron railing from the Charleroi - Monessen bridge broke loose and landed on the deck of a passing Monongahela river boat about 8.30 last night, Monessen police reported.

The rail, measuring about four feet long and one-inch thick, caused some damage to the deck of the "Duquesne," belonging to U. S. Steel Corp.

State bridge maintenance workers have been notified, police said.

Winners Disclosed In Bridge Play

There were seven and a half tables in play last night when the Magic City Bridge Club met in the Charleroi Elks Club.

North-south high score holders were Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Feeney of Brookline, first, and Harry O. Shockey of Uniontown and Allen Levin of Canonsburg, second.

East-west awards were won by Mrs. Rudolph Buchta and Mrs. Charles Rosenbloom of Charleroi, first, and Mrs. Martha Breese of Washington and Mrs Inez Gossard of Charleroi, second.

Sen. Clark Raps Administration For Missile Lag

CARLISLE, Pa. (UP)—Sen. Joseph S. Clark Jr. (D-Pa) charged Thursday night that the Eisenhower administration was chiefly to blame for Russia getting the jump on the U.S. in the launching of the first earth satellite.

Clark, addressing Cumberland County Democrats at a $10-a-plate fund raising dinner, said Russian satellite-missile successes resulted in "loss of prestige" for this country.

He conceded that Congress "must share the blame for putting fiscal policy ahead of defense policy," but told the group "the principal fault for our waning military superiority, the lag in our technological development, and the loss of our world prestige lies with the administration."

Clark called for changes in State Department personnel, including the ouster of Secretary of State Dulles, reappraisal of this country's foreign policy, and lifting the ceiling placed on national defense.

The Dead End

WE HOPE the article by Roscoe Drummond on this page yesterday was as widely read as it deserved to be.

Writing from London, Mr. Drummond was commenting on a singular trend of public opinion in Great Britain. This trend was disclosed by a poll which showed that 41 per cent of the British people would like to live in another country. Another 12 per cent are disposed that way but aren't entirely sure of it.

A conservative official estimate says that 200,000 Britons actually will leave their country this year. A hundred times that many would like to leave but can't for one reason or another.

And why this exodus? Well, here is the answer Mr. Drummond has to that question:

The British are leaving their homes "because Britain no longer holds for them opportunity and reward."

Here certainly is a warning for advocates of the welfare state, of whom there are many in the United States.

Call it by socialism or any other name you choose, but when you offer free men nothing but economic security at the expense of opportunity, you take out of their lives something that belongs there.

More pay for less work, shorter weeks, rigid job seniority, penalties against faster workers — all these are brakes on individual ambition and initiative. By limiting personal and national horizons they make life a monotonous grind leading nowhere instead of a thrilling challenge to superior effort.

Let us by all means in America provide the security which an abundant land makes possible for us and our families. But let us be wary lest security become our ruling objective. That way lies decadence for the nation and hopelessness for ourselves.

Under the Gloss

WE AREN'T QUITE sure what the visit of young Queen Elizabeth and her handsome husband is supposed to accomplish or prove.

Ostensibly, this is a goodwill gesture, demonstrating cordiality between the British and American peoples. The Queen is said to be a very effective saleswoman, and certainly the attention her visit is causing lends credence to that notion.

By receiving the royal couple with the warmth now apparent, no doubt we are showing how much Americans like the British. Or are we maybe just showing how much we enjoy having other peoples' queens in our midst since the only kind we have are queens of potato festivals and such-like?

All this is very well and we have no quarrel with it and certainly none with the Queen and Prince Philip, who obviously are dedicated people.

We just hope, however, that too much is not expected from their visit. We hope the British people are not counting on this to repair the separation which has been growing between our countries as the close comradeship of World War II recedes into history.

We hope, too, that the American people do not mistake the glitter of royalty for the substance of national resolution on the part of Britain.

The English-speaking peoples have come a long way and been through much together. They are likely to need each other more than ever in the future.

They ought to make sure that there is something dependable under the gloss of international courtesies.

Why Civic Music?

PEOPLE who join the Monessen-Belle Vernon Civic Music Association during the annual membership campaign now in progress achieve two objectives at once:

1. They assure themselves of hearing some splendid music, performed by recognized artists, at fairly regular intervals during the winter months.

2. They maintain here in the Monongahela Valley a cultural opportunity which otherwise would not be available to it.

It seems to us that either of these objectives is reason in itself for joining Civic Music.

In the first instance, the $6 annual dues ($3 for students) is a rare bargain for the concert-goer. In each of its previous five seasons, Civic Music has offered its members four attractions, and most have been of top quality. Where else does good music in a comfortable and convenient concert hall come so cheaply?

As to the second reason, many people who do not themselves enjoy serious music (or try to tell themselves that they don't) are anxious that the community in which they live have as fruitful a cultural life as its citizens can manage to provide. And they support efforts along this line irrespective of personal interests.

Civic Music last year came very close to reaching capacity membership. And this large enrollment made possible what most people agree was the finest season it has had.

We hope it can reach capacity in this campaign. If so, music lovers of the Valley are assured of the best ever.

Suggestions To Spark U. S. Revival

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — This writer has recently hammered on the defects and defeats of American foreign policy. Today let's see what can be done to recover for the United States its position as leader of the free world.

Mr. Pearson

The immediate problem is the Near East, where such hitherto pro-west nations as Lebanon and Saudi Arabia are now tearing up the Eisenhower Doctrine in their fear of Khrushchev's sabre-rattling.

Of course, there is no panacea for peace or for winning back American prestige, but here are some of the things that should help:

1. Arab refugees — An over-all package plan for resettlement of Arab refugees is necessary to erase some of the bitterness between the Arab world and Israel. This could be done by several large irrigation projects such as those studied by Harry Truman shortly before he left the White House. This is an intricate, difficult, but all-important problem; more on it later.

2. Education — We have had crash programs to produce certain weapons during war, why not a crash program for education during peace? The school bill, which has been dawdling in Congress for years with no help from the President, should be passed. College professors and schoolteachers should be considered as important as military leaders. They produce the brains which develop the weapons. In most foreign countries, especially Russia, a teacher is one of the most respected members of the community. He is given special honors. In this country he has to fight to keep his salary on a par with the high cost of living.

3. Win the people — In handling our foreign aid, we work through kings and potentates, not the people. In many countries this makes for graft. Aid never gets to the masses. The masses see the rich getting richer from American aid and they take their resentment out on the United States.

What little Russian aid has been given to foreign nations usually is administered so it gets down to the people, doesn't enrich the potentates.

We place too much reliance on outmoded feudal systems such as that of King Saud of Saudi Arabia. His concern for Cadillacs rather than people will eventually catch up with him. Though his system can't last, we are betting all our diplomatic cards on it.

Our talk about democracy does not stack up when we support dictatorships.

4. Less military burdens — We have got to quit insisting that our allies carry crushing military burdens. Greece spends 30 per cent of its taxes on the military. If part were spent on road building, airfields, and irrigation projects to take up slack unemployment, it would have much greater impact in battling Communism.

Turkey is almost bankrupt today because it keeps a huge army of half a million foot soldiers. Yet foot soldiers are largely out of date. This may be why Khrushchev says the Turks could stand up against Russia for only one day.

Right alongside Greece and Turkey, Communism is making progress in Bulgaria and Rumania because their standard of living is improving. If we help our allies to promote their standard of living, Communism can make no headway. But if we impoverish our friends through huge military expenditures, Communism will increase. The battles of Communism will be won or lost on the field of economics and preservation of personal liberties.

5. Local irritants — The island of Cyprus, sought by the Greeks, ruled by the British, and 20 per cent populated by Turks, is one of the worst headaches in the Near East. It has festered too long. It is spoiling relations among our three good friends — Britain, Greece and Turkey. We should have stepped in a long time ago to settle this situation.

Likewise, relations between Japan and South Korea are a source of friction. We can have no effective alliance among our Asiatic friends until we rap recalcitrant old President Syngman Rhee over the knuckles and make him admit Japan to the anti-Communist pact.

If Japan is left out, she is bound to drift toward Red China.

6. People-to-people friendship — The best long-term safeguard the United States has against war is to win the friendship of people behind the Iron Curtain. President Eisenhower officially recognized this at the Geneva "summit" conference and made it the official policy of the United States. Then for two years he forgot about it, did nothing to implement it.

A Hard Look at U. S. Policies

By WALTER LIPPMANN

A few days after Sputnik was launched, Mr. Dulles left Washington for a weekend at his island retreat. This was a sensible thing to do if it meant that, instead of making statements, he was taking time out to think whether and how what Sputnik signifies has affected this country's position in the world.

Mr. Lippmann

He will not, we must suppose, have comforted himself, as did the President at his press conference, with the notion that Sputnik is a "scientific" achievement which has no serious "military" importance. He cannot entertain the crude idea that there are two separate compartments — one for science and one for the military — that there is some vast difference between launching a missile and launching a satellite.

Mr. Dulles cannot have any doubt that a nation which can launch Sputnik is very far advanced in science, in engineering, and in industrial capacity. Nor can he doubt that if this advance continues, or, as it might, if it is compounded and becomes cumulative, there will be a racial alteration in the world balance of power.

Russia not Superior

In this connection, we must remember that in world politics men commonly discount what they believe is the future, treating what they think will happen as if it had already happened. Thus in the few years after 1945 when this country had a monopoly of the atomic bomb, the world regarded us as more powerful than in fact we were. Now, as a result of the successful test of the ballistic missile and the launching of Sputnik, Russia looks enormously powerful. Almost certainly the truth is that she is not now decisively superior but that if present trends continue in Russia and in the United States, she will achieve decisive superiority.

The discounting of this expectation by the rest of the world is having a profound effect on the American position. Mr. Dulles, in his island retreat, can hardly have failed to ponder deeply the consequences. For what he and his country are faced with is the disparity between our actual power and the positions to which we are committed, the objectives we have declared for, in our foreign policy.

People Will Listen

These are days when our people, who have been hearing much bad news, are becoming of a mind to listen to some hard truths. One of them is that the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy is on many critical issues based on a wishful estimate of our own power and a self-deluding notion that because our intentions are righteous, our hopes are designed to be fulfilled. Again and again, the Eisenhower-Dulles policy is a refusal to recognize the facts of life. A policy which is not grounded in the realities will have objectives that are unattainable and will produce consequences that are unforeseen.

Thus there is our China policy, which is based on the notion that if we ostracize the Peiping government, it will eventually collapse, be overthrown, or surrender. While we wait for one of these happy endings, we subsidize a Chinese government in Formosa which can never be the government of China, and is manifestly deteriorating.

Because of this fundamentally false estimate of the realities of power in eastern Asia, our prestige has been declining since long before the launching of Sputnik. For our aims are no doubt righteous But in the hard and sour realities of world politics, good intentions are not a policy.

Our German Policy

Our German policy, which has been largely dominated by Dr. Adenauer, is based on the curious notion that Russia can be induced to surrender, to allow Eastern Germany to be swallowed by Western Germany, and to let a reunified Germany to be incorporated as the strongest European military power in NATO. If there is a single responsible and informed man who, when he is off the record, believes in this fairy tale, I have never met him: Most of those who say they believe in it really believe that it is just as well if Germany is not reunified.

A German policy which is so unrealistic and so ambiguous must in the nature of things crack up. Yet we have no other German policy.

Our Middle Eastern policy is based on the extraordinary notion that Russia, the greatest power bordering on the Middle East, can like Czarist Russia in the days of the supremacy of Britain, be excluded. Because of this underlying fallacy, no policy we undertake in the Middle East can really succeed. For Russia cannot be excluded, and what is more, the Arab states, who want to work both sides of the street, object to excluding her.

The common characteristic of the China, the German and the Middle Eastern policy is the crucial assumption that our power and influence are so great that our adversaries — Russia and China — will have to surrender. Since they show no signs of surrendering, since they show many signs that they are growing in power, we do not have negotiable policies. As a result, when an event like the launching of Sputnik discloses that we are far from being all-powerful, our prestige and influence are profoundly shaken.

UNITED NATIONS—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, in a letter to the U.N. charging that Turkey was preparing to attack Syria:

"It must be recognized that an armed attack on Syria by Turkey, a member of the North Atlantic Bloc (NATO), cannot fail to extend the conflict to other countries."

JAMESTOWN, Va.—Queen Elizabeth, in saying the observance of the 350th anniversary of Jamestown's founding illustrates the saga of the British Commonwealth and the United States:

"In essence they are both stories of experiments and adventures in freedom."

WASHINGTON — Drs. Robert Jastrow and C. A. Pearse of the Naval Research Laboratory, in a statement saying that Russia's satellite may not last as long as expected:

"...Calculations indicate that at high altitudes the electrical drag substantially increases the resistance of the air to the satellite's motion...lifetime estimates of the USSR satellite may be cut by a factor or two as a result of this effect."

DETROIT — Former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, in replying to charges he blocked the U. S. earth satellite project by holding up needed funds:

"...No one close to the project, as far as I know, has said that there was a lack of money."

SAN FRANCISCO — Vice President Nixon, in blaming Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus for the Little Rock school crisis:

"I'm convinced that he (Faubus) used his power not to carry out the law but to thwart it."

HOLLYWOOD — Anna Kashfi, bride of actor Marlon Brando, in a statement aimed at clarifying apparently conflicting reports on her parentage:

"I was born in Calcutta, India, to my Indian parents, Devi Kashfi ...and Selma Ghose, on Sept. 30, 1934. When I was 16 my mother remarried William Patrick O'Callaghan."

Nasser's Move in Syria Political, not Military

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Egypt's action in sending troops to Syria appears now to have been a political rather than a military move.

Mr. McCann

The announcement that President Gamal Abdel Nasser had sent the troops caused a lot of excitement because it came while Syria and Soviet Russia were accusing Turkey of aggressive intentions.

It was obvious, of course, that a few thousand Egyptian soldiers could hardly be of much value in event of a Turkish - Syrian clash.

Now, it seems quite clear that Nasser was thinking not of Turkey but of himself and Russia.

Nasser On Sidelines

First, Nasser had been on the sidelines during the savage Syrian and Russian campaign against Turkey.

Secondly, Nasser has felt himself more and more shoved into the background by the increasing importance of King Saud of Saudi Arabia in the Arab world.

Nasser still aspires to be the leader of the Arab countries.

By sending the troops to Syria, Nasser got himself back into the act, so to speak.

But there is another interesting and important factor in the situation.

It is reported from Middle Eastern capitals, apparently accurately, that one reason why Nasser sent the troops was to lessen the chance that Russia would send a big force of technicians to instruct the Syrians in the use of the weapons it has sent there.

Nasser, according to these reports, wants to get Egyptian instructors and technicians into Syria himself, and to keep the Russians out.

Nasser Getting Worried

This fits in with the persistent reports first, that Nasser is getting increasingly worried over Russian penetration of the Middle East and secondly, that he would like to find some way to improve Egyptian relations with the United States.

In this connection, Egyptian delegations are now negotiating with a British delegation in Rome and a French delegation in Geneva in an attempt to restore the economic relations which have been broken since Britain and France invaded the Suez Canal zone one year ago.

Nasser sent his troops to Syria under the Egyptian-Syrian Mutual Defense Treaty of 1955. This treaty established a joint military command for the two countries, with Egyptian Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer as supreme commander.

Aids to Better Sleep Always Improving

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP) — Norman Dine, a New York merchant who has been struggling for a quarter of a century with ways and means to keep America asleep, now has come up with a new catnap device called "the safety snoozer for commuters."

Dine operates a "sleep center," which sells smooth - snoozing aids of all persuasions, including such attractively named instruments as the safety smoker, the silent radio, the polite alarm clock, the platonic bed, the anti - claustrophobic sleep mask, and an anti-snore gadget called TOD ("turn over, darling.")

The commuter safety - snoozer is for gents who want to utilize that long train trip from office to home for a concentrated catnap—but have been afraid they'll sleep past the home stop and into wifely turmoil.

Eyemask Fits Well

It is an eyemask made of aluminum foil sandwiched between two tight-weave, rayon - stain cloth strips, with elastic ear-hooks to keep it on. It moulds to the facial contours, keeping light out, permitting sleep. The touch of genius in the thing shows in a white card affixed to its front.

The card bears the legend: "Please wake me at..." with space for writing in the destination or the hour of desired awakening. The conductor must do the rest. Dine calls the card a "Snooze Guard." Price, $1.25.

As for Dine's other inspirations —the safety smoker is something like the old Turkish water pipe, has a mouthpiece and long tube attached to a metal ashtray which, in turn has a holder for the cigarette. The ashes fall into the tray, eliminating the fire danger if you fall asleep smoking in bed, and the tray is far enough away to let your wife sleep without being bothered by smoke or worry.

The silent radio has a speaker on the end of a wire, and the speaker goes under your wife's pillow so she can listen and you can sleep.

Awake With A Glow

The polite alarm clock wakes you by blinking a glowing light into your puss rather than ringing or buzzing — supposed to be less shocking.

The anti - claustrophobic sleep mask is a regular sleep mask but equipped with peepholes—like the commuter snoozer—so that the anxious sleeper can open one eye anon and keep in touch with the world.

The TOD is new, too. It's a plastic unit with built-in buzzer and two tiny batteries under the snorer's pillow. The bed-partner has a pushbutton which sounds the buzzer harshly enough to remind the snorer to turn off his back but not loud enough to wake him up.

NIPA Ladies Lodge Sets Holiday Fete

Plans were made for future activities including the annual Christmas party when the North Italian Political Association Ladies Lodge met in the lodge rooms on Knox Ave. last night.

The president, Lena Valdiserri, was in charge of the session which began with prayer and the pledge of allegiance.

Mrs. Rose Cardelli reported on the last meeting and read the correspondence in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Mercedes Agostini. The treasurer, Mrs. Adeline Aleasaon, gave the financial statement, and other reports were by Mrs. Mary Frolo, financial secretary, and Mrs. Thalia Zombelli, visitation of the sick chairman.

It was decided that the entire group will go to Dependable Furnace storeroom next Thursday evening, Oct. 24, to see a range and laundry demonstration.

Set Party Date

Monday, Dec. 9, was the date selected for the annual Christmas party. Mrs. Lena Delzangle will be chairman with Mrs. Lena Beneccio as co-chairman. On their committee will be Mrs. Theresa Johnson, Mrs. Mary Frolo, Mrs. Aleason, Mrs. Rose Cardelli, Mrs. Rena Marchione, Mrs. Dolores Centani, and Mrs. Lena Valdiserri.

Plans were also made for the election of officers at the next meeting to be held on Nov. 21 in the hall.

A social hour followed and luncheon was served by the hostess committee.

Local Student On Penn State Debate Team

Barbara Ann Kersnick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kersnick, 454 Reed Ave., has been chosen as a member of the Women's Debate team at Pennsylvania State University.

Miss Kersnick, a graduate of Monessen High School, is a member of the sophomore class at Penn State.

Dedication Set By Ladies of Eagles on Sunday

Dedication ceremonies will be held by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Eagles on Sunday afternoon for the monolith given to the people of Monessen. The large tablet bearing the inscription of the 23rd Psalm has been placed at City Park, and the dedication will take place there at 3 o'clock.

A few months ago the Eagles men's lodge gave a similar tablet with the Lord's Prayer inscribed on it.

Invitations have been extended to members of the men's lodge, lodge and civic dignitaries to take part in the program.

After the dedication there will be refreshments served in the Aerie Home. In the evening there will be dancing from 8 o'clock until midnight, and an orchestra will provide the music.

Nancy A. Kudlik, Bride-elect of John H. Stock

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kudlik, Belle Vernon R. D. 3, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Anne, to John H. Stock. He is the son of Mrs. Olga Stock, 528 Madison Ave., Carnegie, and the late Mr. Stock.

Miss Kudlik, a graduate of Rostraver High School with the class of 1953, and a graduate of Wesley College, is presently employed with the United States Steel Corporation, Pittsburgh.

Her fiance was graduated in 1952 from Scott Township High School and attended the University of Pittsburgh. He is presently employed in the offices of Eazor Express Co.

Plans are being made for a spring wedding.

District Girls Will Appear On Stars Show

Two district girls will be appearing on WARD Johnstown TV Stars of Tomorrow program on Sunday from 6 to 6:30 p.m.

Carol Ann Murin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Murin of 1048 State Rd., will be featured in a pantomime. Nancy Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan of 428 Fourth St. Charleroi, will present a dance specialty.

Both girls are students at Erni's School of Dance. Their most recent public appearances were made at South Park, East Park, Club, Uniontown Country Club, Monterey Restaurant at Washington, Indiana Fair and Rainbow Garden, Mt. Pleasant. They have made numerous valley appearances.

Carol Ann appeared for the second consecutive year on the Steel Pier at Atlantic City this past summer. She was interviewed there on the same program with the Four Lads, recording artists.

ULTRA VIOLET three piece wool tweed suit was designed with a short box jacket with a wide collar to fit lightly over a slim skirt. The taffeta demi-blouse with buckled front and softly draped neckline matches the lining of the jacket.

Girl Scout Leaders, Council Plan Hayride

The Monessen Girl Scout Leaders will have an unusual fall event on Monday evening when they meet to go on a hayride. They will have members of the Girl Scout Council as guests.

All those planning to attend are asked to meet at the Civic Center at 6:30 p. m., and anyone needing transportation is asked to contact Mrs. Helen Kreger.

After the hayride Mrs. Jane King, Mrs. Sophie Hyrohak and Mrs. Elizabeth Houy will serve refreshments. Shirley Tressler, Bunny Tesack and Mrs. Glenda Stanley will be in charge of entertainment.

All orders for the mixed nut sale from all troops must be turned in at this time.

Twelve Links Honor Member On Birthday

The Twelve Links gathered at the home of Mrs. Edward Galaski of Rostraver St. on Wednesday evening and surprised her on the occasion of her birthday anniversary.

They arrived at the home with a turkey supper and served it at a table arranged in Halloween fashion with miniature pumpkins and centered with a decorated birthday cake baked by Ann Sokolsky and Mrs. Mary Filipowski.

Mrs. Galaski was presented with a gift from the group.

Cards were played and those winning high score prizes were were Mrs. Florence Anders and Mrs. Mary Filipowski. Mrs. Florence Anders won the guest prize.

The party was arranged by Mrs. Mary Galaski and Mrs. Charlotte Szerszen.

The group planned a Halloween party for Oct. 29 at the home of Mrs. Stella Anders of Knox Ave.

LOCALS

Members of Monessen High School graduating class of 1945 have set Saturday, Nov. 30, as the date for their reunion to be held at the Charleroi Elks Club. There will be a cocktail hour from 6 to 7 p. m. followed by dinner and dancing. Reply cards should be returned immediately for reservations.

Candidates will be initiated at the meeting of Magic City Council Junior Order United American Mechanics next Wednesday evening at the IOF Hall in Charleroi. The Greensburg degree team will be in charge and candidates are asked to attend at 7 p. m.

The bake sale planned for next Wednesday by the women of St. Luke Lutheran Church has been postponed.

New Members Welcomed by Brownie Troop

Brownie Troop 15 met last night at the Civic Center and nine new members were welcomed. The flag ceremony with Cynthia Beneccio as color bearer and Janice Kerr and Coleen Sacchini as color guards opened the program.

The new members received included Cynthia Beneccio, Janice Kerr, Patricia Kohut, Barbara Massa, Lynn Monkowski, Colleen Sacchini, Doreen Seykowski, Joan Tutena and Theresa Kryczynski.

After the business session there were games and group singing. The session closed with Indian Taps and the Goodbye Song. Mrs. J. DiBuono is troop leader.

Mary Kalamaras Is Honored at Bridal Shower

Bride-elect Mary Kalamaras of Charleroi was honored at a prenuptial shower held at the G.A.P.A. hall in Monessen on Tuesday evening. Hostesses were members of the G.A.P.A. Young Ladies Lodge to which she belongs.

Pink tulle attired blushing brides were part of the pink and white color scheme used in the decorations. Each guest received one as a favor. The table at which the guest of honor was seated was centered with a pink and white doll cake inscribed "Mary and Ted." It was surrounded with miniature cakes, which were later served along with the luncheon.

Games were played and at the close of the evening the guest of honor opened her gifts.

Miss Kalamaras will become the bride of Ted Mermigas on Sunday, Oct. 20, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at St. Spyridon Greek Orthodox Church of Monessen.

St. Cajetan Confraternity Plans Activities

Members of the Confraternity of Christian Mothers of St. Cajetan Roman Catholic Church will receive Holy Communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass on Sunday morning.

After mass there will be a breakfast in the church hall.

This group has also planned a bake sale for Sunday, Oct. 27, after each mass with Yolanda Deihl as chairman.

On Tuesday, Oct. 29, following the St. Anthony novena the confraternity will meet for the regular business session and Halloween party. Neddy Sellaro will be social chairman, and October birthdays will be observed.

Monongahela Planning New Stadium

Monongahela High School officials are considering a site for a new athletic field in the Memorial Park area on Fourth Street there. Monessen fans will probably remember the proposed location of the new Wildcat lair as the area around the Little League park in Monongahela . . . Test holes have been made as the preliminary step toward relocating the field, showing 18 feet of clay deposit and gray shale and sandstone deposits . . . And still more football games are called off, the latest being the Jefferson-Carmichael clash. Previously the South Union-German game was postponed . . . The Bellmar-Rostraver game was definitely "on" until noon yesterday but the rains (not the flu) upset things.

* * *

Dick Hoak, who quarterbacked Jeannette to the WPIAL title last year climaxed by that 16-13 win over Charleroi, will call the signals tomorrow when the Penn State frosh battles Pitt . . . Del and Fleming Mosely, Monessen High graduates, are two of the 19 California Teachers College gridders down with the flu. Several others are on the injured list but plans are going on for playing tomorrow's game with Edinboro . . . There'll be plenty of football action in the area Saturday night with the Bellmar-Rostraver clash and the West Newton-Perry games being played within a few miles of each other . . . The flu scare is hurting crowds even when the games ARE played as witnessed here Tuesday (Midget games) and at Charleroi (Junior High tilt) Wednesday night.

Monessen 4th in Big Five Enrollment

Following a discussion with us on enrollment figures of the Big Five schools, Monessen High School Director of Athletics Everett Pancook supplied us with the following totals based on 1956 registrations and including grades 9 to 12 — Brownsville 1146, Monongahela 1028, Charleroi 1003, Monessen 983 and Donora 711 . . . The WPIAL lists 1000 as the Class AA enrollment figure, 500 for A and under 500 for B. You may compete in a higher classification than your enrollment but not in a lower group . . . Those figures will surprise some local fans as many have the mistaken idea Monessen High is so much larger in enrollment than other valley schools.

* * *

According to the latest Gardner Point System ratings by which the WPIAL determines its point standings for championship, Uniontown is tied with McKeesport for third place behind New Kensington and Wilkinsburg . . . Oddly enough New Kensington has played only one AA foe, Johnstown, but the Johnnies have obliged by knocking off two leading contenders, one of them (Duquesne) last week . . . The New Ken point total is 120, Wilkinsburg 106.7, Uniontown and McKeesport show 105 points . . . Brownsville, Clairton and Hempfield each rate 100 points . . . Class A shows Derry pacing with 120. North Union 107, South Union 105 . . . Class B has Avella ahead with 125 points, Centerville second with 115 (surprised?), then Masontown with 110, Perryopolis with 105 . . . Fairchance and Beth Joint are also in the B race.

Dudey Can't Cry As Much This Season

Dudey Moore of the Duquesne Dukes will have to quit crying over lack of material this season for the talented Bluffite mentor has seven of eight players back from the "first-string" squad of last season . . . Only face missing will be Dave Ricketts but he'll be sorely missed . . . Bernie Matthews, Red Ryan, Bob DePalma, Jack Sauer, Fritz Binder, George Henry and Marty Keenan are back, however, plus a promising crop of sophomores paced by George Brown, 6-4, of North Catholic . . . Others are 6-6½ Frank Grabowski, 6-5 Joe Clune, 6-4 Ron Cygrymus. 6-3 Mike Folff, 6-2 Jim Lott. Senior Jim McLaughlin, 6-4, is also available . . . Moore's comment? — Sure we should do better but so will almost every team on our schedule." . . . Same ol' Dudey!

Ex-pro Gridder Really Knocks Cover Off Ball

By OSCAR FRALEY

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—George Bayer, a six foot, five inch 240-pound former professional football player, figures today that mechanically at least he's the luckiest man in golf.

The main reason is that anybody who ever played the game wanted to knock the cover off the ball.

Big George does.

The pros will tell you that Bayer, the powerful blond who graduated from the University of Washington and played three games with the Washington Redskins, hits the ball farther than any man who ever lived. This is quite a buildup when you consider hitters of the past and present such as Ted Ray, Clarence Gamber, Charley Hall, Jimmy Thomson, Lawson Little, Sam Snead and Mike Souchak.

But there are statistics to back this up.

On a 589-yard hole at Sydney, big George had a tee shot which left him only a flip wedge from the green. It was a poke of over 500 yards which, even downhill, is cutting it a long ton

He drove the green on a 436-yard hole at the Del Rio Country Club in Tucson, hit the green of a 402-yard hole at Hartford, Conn., on the fly and performed the same feat on the 385-yard 18th at Cypress Point.

Don't Slug Ball

Yet, Bayer advises the average golfer not to try to slug the ball.

"It's the main reason most golfers lose the fairway," he said. "Striving for that extra five or 10 yards they lose control. Consistency takes timing and control, with the length off the tee coming from clubhead speed."

Bayer points out that little Jerry Barber, only five feet, six inches tall, can outdrive George Mikan, who stands six feet, 11 inches. As for his own tremendous distance, big George explains that the arc of the average man's swing is 18 feet while his arc measures 27 feet.

"I was blessed with coordination," he analyzes. "I never have to consciously try to cut down on my distance because at last I have my driving under full control."

Suggests Brassie Off Tee

Bayer uses his driver, a three wood with which he gets 275 yards and a one iron which he hits 250 yards. But he suggests that the average player use a brassie off the tee for greater control and a three wood from the fairway.

George gave up golf from the time he was 16 until he was 25. At that point he began to play again while selling automobiles for a living "and finally realized my potential." It began to pay off this year, his fourth as a pro, when he won the Canadian Open with a 70-68-64-69—271

Monessen Hosts Redstone Tonight

Midgets to Continue '57 Card

Monessen's Midget League football season will complete its regular season, it was decided at a meeting of the board of directors last night.

The games postponed from Oct. 1 and Oct 8 will be played on Oct. 22 and Oct. 29 respectively with a week's layoff before playing the annual All-Star tilt on Nov. 12.

It was also decided at last night's meeting not to play any outside games due to the length of the local season caused by the postponements. Two requests has been received for such outside tilts.

The schedule for Oct. 22 will call for Frank-Lin vs. Lincoln and Vocational vs. Jefferson games while the Oct. 29 card will have Frank-Lin vs. Jefferson tilts and Vocational vs. Lincoln games.

At the same time Department of Recreation Director Steve Pfiester has requested the following organizations to assist at the above mentioned games—The VFW and American Legion on Oct. 22, the Eagles and Chamber of Commerce on Oct. 29 and the Lions on Nov. 12.

Local MVL Entry Edges Leaders

Monessen's entry in the Mon Valley Bowling League will travel to Belle Vernon for a league match tonight after surprising the league-leading Axelrads of Uniontown, 2-1, in recent action. Tonight's match starts at 7:45 o'clock.

Pauline Burdock and Mary Palm posted top scores in the Monessen win both rolling over 500 three-game series of 539 (Burdock) and 533 (Palm). Pauline also had the top three-game mark of 208. Ruth Boal rolled a 532 top for Uniontown.

Other results showed Fredericktown topping Charleroi Grand 3-0, Bentleyville edging Donora, 2-1, Connellsville defeating Belle Vernon, 2-1, and Charleroi New Moon blanking Scottdale, 3-0.

Top bowlers in the other matches were Verne Ellsworth, Charleroi Grand, 372, Rachel Jenkins (Fredericktown)-515, Ann Perrotta (Donora) 396, Peg Kam- (Bentleyville) 480, Nancy Hudock (Connellsville) 435, Dori Sutherland and Ida Picchiarini (Belle Vernon) 388, Delores Koch of Charleroi New Moon 478 Fran Chiaramonte (Scottdale) 403.

Averages for the past month's bowling show Mary Palm and Babe Kroskie of Monessen among the top five bowlers with averages of 153.14 and 143.10 respectively.

St. Sebastian Jumps Lead; Fiorino High

St. Sebastian increased its lead in the Belle Vernon Knights of Columbus League Bowling last night, blanking St. James. 3-0, while St. John jumped to a tie for second place with a shutout of St. Joseph.

Sam Fiorino paced all bowlers as he rolled a 177 single game and a 430 three-game series for St. Johns. Other top scorers were Mike Kara, John Cicco, Guy Winn, Ken Stickel, Fabian, and Mike Semancik.

Standings — St. Sebastian 13-8; St. John 11-10, St. James 11-10 and St. Joseph 7-14.

Evancho High in OH Riggers Loop

Frables and McShanes copped victories in the Open Hearth Riggers League last night over Van Shuras and McVickers.

Larry Evancho rolled the single game high of 244 and also had the three-game high of 556.

Other high scorers were Joe Pollock (526), Sage Salay (545), Chuck Simon (525), Russ Labrasca, Ed Zywicki, Red Ciglar and Joe Koget.

Standings — McShanes Chains 14-7, Frables Cables 13-8, McVickers Riggers 11-10, Van Shura's Squares 5-16

To Meet Winner

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Vince Martinez, second-ranked welterweight from Paterson, N.J., is scheduled to arrive in Los Angeles Friday to complete arrangements to meet the winner of next Tuesday night's bout between Gaspar Ortega and Kid Gavilan at Wrigley Field.

Rostraver-Bellmar to Try Again Tomorrow

Bellmar and Rostraver High Schools hope to finally get into some grid action tomorrow night following postponement after postponement in recent weeks.

First, the flu caused the calling off or postponement of two games for Rostraver, one for the Hurricanes, then, came time for the "big one" when the two neighborhood rivals play each other and the flu only mildly affecting the teams.

That game was set for last night at Rostraver's Stadium but the rains came and again a postponement was necessary.

Up until noon yesterday the game was definitely set but shortly after the lunch hour when it was found the rain was not letting up, the game was postponed.

Three 'Canes Out

Rostraver's gridders have been mildly hit by the flu and Bellmar, up until a few days ago had avoided the bug but this week three players who see considerable action in the Hurricane games came down with the malady.

Affected were by the bug were halfbacks Dennis Swiantik, and Milt Dupree and quarterback Ron Coates, sophomore replacement for Larry Petras.

Both teams planned on keeping their lineups intact for tomorrow night as they were announced here yesterday.

In this annual grudge battle, season records mean nothing as more times than not the underdog rises to the occasion and spoils a good season for the favorite.

Most of the Bellmar-Rostraver clashes are settled by one-touchdown margins.

Game time tomorrow night is 8 o'clock, not 9 o'clock as is the case with most Saturday night contests.

Shutouts Feature In Blast Furnace

All shutouts were posted in the Blast Furnace League last night as Mechanical, Cast House and Electrical blanked the Pig Machine, Steam Plant and Blow Room.

M. Wargo rolled both the three-game top and the single game high with a 191 and a 536. W. Cieply had a 521 three-game. Others rolling high scores were S. Szabo, H. Crespo, M. Grunick and D. Hennessey.

Standings — Cast House 17-4, Electrical 13-8, Steam Plant 12-9, Pig Machine 8-13, Mechanical 8-13 and Blow Room 5-16.

Lastoka, Slebodnik Pace OH Pit

John Zdilla, Jr. showed a 209 and a 580 card in Open Hearth Pit League last night to pace all scorers with Pete Lastoka, Mike Slebodnick, George Theiser and Don O'Toole also rolling high totals.

Standings — Dalleys 14-4, Bergstedt 11-7, Leinbergers 9-9, Cutters 8-10, Manown 6-12, Bakers 6-12.

New Record for Echart in BMML

Ray Echart set a new single game high record for the Blooming Mill Millwright League with a 268 in last night's action as the Brennimans, Gieselharts and Bethems copped wins.

Emil DeMarco had a 206 and Andy Valko a 215 for other top scores. Walter Labeka, Norman Frantz, Pete Urick, Ray Calderone, Cee Brown, Paul Martz and Herb Frew were also among the high point-makers.

Standings — McVickers 14-10, Geiselharts 14-10, Brennimans 13-11, Bethems 11-13 and Aiellos 9-15.

Waynesburg, Edinboro Solve Game Problem

The flu has affected two district college games with St. Vincent forced to call off its game with Waynesburg and California Teachers cancelling the Edinboro teachers contest.

As a result Waynesburg and Edinboro got together and will meet Saturday at Waynesburg in the homecoming game for the Jackets.

Earlier this week, Washington & Jefferson called off its game with Thiel and Slippery Rock Teachers canceled its game with Western Reserve.

Fight Results

By UNITED PRESS

HARTFORD, Conn. — Billy Lynch, 147, Hartford, outpointed Charley Cotton, 150, Toledo, Ohio (10).

REVERE, Mass. — Ray Lancaster, 144, Spartanburg, S.C., stopped Dom Prestone, 146, Everett, Mass. (2).

LOS ANGELES — Paul Jorgensen, 127, Houston, knocked out Ernesto Figueroa, 128, Mexico City. (10).

Fight Next Month

NEW YORK (UP)—Philippe Filippi, manager of Alphonse Halimi of France, is scheduled to leave today for Los Angeles where Halimi will meet Raul Macias on Nov. 6 in a bantamweight title fight.

Carroll Juniors Tie, 6-6

Carroll Township's new Junior high school football team, playing without the services of its two top players, both out for the season with injuries, fought to a 6-6 tie with Glassport at Donora High's field last night.

Bob Davis and Dale Diaz, both top backfielders, are suffering from a fractured arm and ankle respectively, suffered in the first two games of the season against Aliquippa and Brownsville.

Last night at Donora (Carroll has no home field) Ray Janney, Carroll halfback, cracked over from the seven-yard line in the first quarter for a 6-0 Lancer lead which held until the fourth period.

In the final stanza Jim Feltz of Glassport climaxed a visitor drive drive with a 12-yard end run to paydirt.

Terrific defensive play on the part of linemen Barry Borodaty, Bob Popovich and Jerry Marraccini and backfielder Tom McGuffie played a large part in the fine Carroll showing with Caserta the offensive spark-plug.

Next start for the Carroll's is at Turtle Creek next Wednesday in an afternoon contest.

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Carroll | 6 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —6 |
| Glassport | 0 | 0 | 0 | 6 | —6 |

TOUCHDOWNS — Janney (Carroll); Foltz (Glassport).

Wilkinsburg Faces Mounties Tonight In WPIAL Feature

By UNITED PRESS

Wilkinsburg faces Mt. Lebanon tonight in a featured WPIAL Class AA football game at Mt. Lebanon.

Wilkinsburg, still in the race for the championship, lost to Mt. Lebanon last year, 28-27.

In other games involving contenders for the crown, Butler meets Sharon and Duquesne faces Aliquippa. Both games are expected to be close, hard-fought contests.

Clairton, still in contention, meets Ambridge, eliminated last week in a tie with Charleroi.

In Class A, Scott Township is pitted against McKees Rocks in what Scott coach Bob Hast regards as his toughest game this season.

In another game, Class A, Carnegie meets Class B, Bridgeville in a traditional contest.

Locals Return to Action Following Three-Week Layoff

Unless a late afternoon phone call brings about another postponement the Monessen High School footballers will be seeing action for the first time in three weeks tonight at the stadium here hosting the Redstone High Blackhawks.

Games with Brownsville and Hempfield for the locals had to be postponed due to the flu the past two weeks and even the Redstone game was uncertain until the middle of this week.

Coach Armand Niccolai of the locals reports his lads are in pretty fair shape after their bout with the "bug" and has named a starting lineup of George Guibourdanche and Dennis O'Toole at ends, Gus Allen and Vince Pascarella at tackles, Bob Pauline and Terry Throop at guards, Lou Gigliotti at center up front with Dan Barton at quarterback, Ken Bronson and Joe Karbowsky at halves and Carl Rattay at fullback.

One Possible Change

Should Pascarella be unable to play, being one of the few players still feeling the effects of the flu, Ron Karbowsky could possibly get the nod here or perhaps Dan Blythe would move into Throop's guard slit and Throop over to tackle.

Redstone mentor Joe Bosnic, whose charges have lost to Johnstown and Brownsville before the flu started affecting the schedule has nominated Ed Buchheit, 156, and Don Moscovitis, 160, at ends, John DiSimone, 190, and Gary Meloni, 215, at tackles, Don Croftcheck, 165, and Frank Middleton, 180 at guards with Joe Grubish at center, going 175. The "speed merchant" backfield will show Fred Mazurek, 170, at quarterback, Roger Daniero, 135, and Lou DeSimone, 165, at halfbacks and Ralph Grooms, 175, at fullback.

Game time tonight is 8 o'clock.

Wildcats - Brownie Game Postponed

Another flu postponement has hit the high school grid card with the Monongahela-Brownsville game for tonight postponed until Nov. 11 at the request of Monongahela officials.

Steeler Title Hopes Hinge on Sunday's Battle

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers, with an optimistic coach at the helm, looked forward to their Sunday encounter with the New York Giants as a game which could earmark them as a pennant contender.

"Our team is capable of top football, and if we play our best we can beat anyone," coach Buddy Parker said of his Steeler team.

Parker said he thought "frankly" this was not the year for the Pittsburghers to go the whole way to the top, but he added, "We're not far away."

The Steelers travel to New York to take on the National Football League champions at Yankee Stadium. Both teams have a 2-1 season record and are tied for second place in divisional contention.

The Steelers will conduct a fine practice session today and leave Saturday for New York.

IL Minor League Clubs Cool to Jersey Franchise

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UP) — The International League met with surprising apathy today in trying to sell one of its clubs on the idea of moving into Jersey City, N.J., the newest territory in the circuit.

"It's not for us," said Bob Maduro, president of the Cuban Sugar Kings. "We'll continue to play in Havana."

General Manager Joe Ryan of Miami said Jersey City wasn't for his club either.

"We are quite happy with Miami and would like to stay there," Ryan said.

President Frank Shaughnessy of the International League claimed Jersey City — where the Brooklyn Dodgers played seven of their "home" games this year — when he notified National Association President George Trautman Thursday that one of his teams intended to operate there next season.

Shaughnessy said the club that will move into Jersey City will be decided upon at the Major-Minor League meetings in Colorado Springs, Colo., during December but admitted Havana and Miami were strong candidates.

That, however, didn't seem to jibe with what officials from those two clubs had to say.

So Shaughnessy may well have a city without a franchise in Jersey City next season.

There also is the possibility that the International League may expand from an 8-team league to a 10-team circuit, as has been hinted from time to time.

Miami Pick Over NCS Tonight; Queen to Attend Game Tomorrow

By UNITED PRESS

The college football weekend opens Friday night with three solid games in the South, a prelude to a Saturday program featuring the presence of Queen Elizabeth at the Maryland-North Carolina game and battles for possible bowl berths.

In the Friday attractions, Miami of Florida is a six-point favorite over unbeaten and surprising North Carolina State. Unbeaten Mississippi, co-leader in the Southeastern Conference, is a 14-point choice over Tulane. West Virginia, favored again in the Southern Conference, rates 13 points over George Washington.

Royalty at College Park

On Saturday, Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, an old hand at cricket, polo and sailing, get a look at American-style football at College Park, Md., where Maryland entertains North Carolina. Carolina, an upset winner three straight weeks, is favored by seven points this time.

Michigan State, the national leader in total offense, rushing, pass completion average and backfield depth, figures to be 21 points better than Purdue. Oklahoma, ranked No. 1 by the United Press Board of Coaches all season until Michigan State dumped it to second place last week, is a 34-point choice over Kansas.

The winner of the Oregon at Washington State game will take the lead in the race for the Pacific Coast Conference berth in the Rose Bowl. Betting is "even money." In another tossup game which could produce a Sugar or Cotton Bowl team, Georgia Tech entertains an unbeaten Auburn club which leads the nation in total defense.

Minnesota Over Illinois

In the nationally televised game, third-ranked Minnesota is a 13-point favorite over Illinois. Minnesota's classy quarterbacks, Bobby Cox and Dick Larson, will operate behind a heavier and sounder line.

Other Saturday favorites:

Intersectional: Penn State over Vanderbilt, Syracuse over Nebraska.

East: Army over Pittsburgh, Yale over Cornell, Harvard over Columbia, Pennsylvania over Brown, Princeton over Colgate, Holy Cross over Dartmouth, Boston College over Villanova, Boston U. over Bucknell, Rutgers over Lehigh.

Midwest: Iowa over Wisconsin, Michigan over Northwestern, Ohio State over Indiana, Colorado over Kansas State, Missouri over Iowa State, Houston over Oklahoma State, Tulsa over North Texas State, Cincinnati over Marquette, Detroit over Xavier (Ohio).

South: Tennessee over Alabama, Florida over Mississippi State, Louisiana State over Kentucky, Duke over Wake Forest, Virginia Tech over Virginia, Navy over Georgia, William & Mary over Virginia Military.

Southwest: Texas A & M over Texas Christian, Baylor over Texas Tech, Arkansas over Texas, Rice over Southern Methodist.

Far West: Oregon State over UCLA, Stanford over Washington, Idaho over College of Pacific, New Mexico over Arizona, Utah over Denver, Utah State over Montana, Wyoming over Brigham Young, California - Southern California is "even money."

Pirates Purchase Bill Bell, Sell Jackie Brown

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today announced the sale of pitcher John (Jackie) Brown to the Columbus Jets of the International League and the purchase of pitcher Bill Bell from Lincoln, Neb.

Both pitchers are righthanders.

Brown played last season for Beaumont, Texas in the Big State League and for the Columbus Jets. He had a 3-5 record with Beaumont and 2-2 with Columbus.

Bell had an 11-4 record with Lincoln in the Western League last season. He was given a trial with the Pirates in late 1952 when he appeared in four games.

Cub Coaches Sign

CHICAGO (UP)— The Chicago Cubs announced today that three coaches have accepted terms for next year.

The coaches are Freddie Fitzsimmons, George Myatt and Ray Mueller.

Split Proves Big Flop on Pacific Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — The split-T formation may be a howling success for Coach Bud Wilkinson and the Oklahoma Sooners, but it's a full - fledged flop this year on the West Coast.

Four brand new coaches are trying it out on the Pacific slope this year and they have a combined record of one win, one tie and 13 (yeah, 13!) losses so far.

The records go like this:

Coach Jim Owen at Washington—Tied Colorado, lost to Minnesota, Ohio State and UCLA.

Coach Pete Elliott at California—Lost to Southern Methodist, Washington State, Michigan State and Navy.

Coach Don Clark, Southern California — Lost to Oregon State, Michigan and Pittsburgh.

Coach Bob Titchenal, San Jose State—Won from Denver, lost to Stanford, Arizona (Tempe) State and Oregon.

A pro scout watching California play Michigan State and Navy the last two weeks, in which the Golden Bears scored only six points against 40 for the opposition, has this to say.

"It takes time to install the T-formation. It takes lightning - like timing and coordination. None of those California boys ever played the split-T before this year. They have to be taught the game right from their freshman year.

Pirates 'Ring' Bell

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates have purchased pitcher Bill Bell from their Lincoln, Neb., farm club and sold pitcher Jackie Brown to their Columbus, Ohio farm club. Bell had an 11-4 record with Lincoln this year.

Haney, Braves in Contract Talks For '58 Season

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP)—Fred Haney, baseball's best lineup juggler in 1957 and prime candidate for manager of the year, talks over his 1958 contract with the Milwaukee Braves' front office Saturday.

He'll undoubtedly get a raise for winning the World Series. The best guess at his earnings this year is about $35,000.

A one-year contract will be offered him, in line with Braves policy under President Joseph Cairnes.

Haney was on the hot seat all season in piloting the Braves to the National League pennant. It was generally conceded that the 58-year old former skipper of the luckless St. Louis Browns and Pittsburgh Pirates, would have been out of a job had not the Braves come home first.

Attitude Irked Press

Refusing to look beyond his immediate opponent, Haney's "one-game-at-a-time" attitude irritated newsmen who looked for more spectacular comments. But he stuck to his guns.

After the season, he explained that he and General Manager John Quinn had agreed to that philosophy in spring training.

"We wanted the players to play each game with the same amount of determination, no matter where it was in the standings. We wanted no letups," said Haney.

Despite probably the worst string of injuries ever to befall him or any manager, Haney kept his team in first place or near it. With the help of player deals and swaps by Quinn, he put the right man in the lineup at the right time.

No Choke-Up

Haney had proved during the last half of 1956 that he could manage a championship club, but he and his team had to live down "choke-up" charges resulting from the final three-game series in St. Louis.

The Braves dropped two of the three and lost the pennant to Brooklyn by one game.

The past year was not without its bad moments. After a 20-4 loss to Brooklyn in July, Haney was hanged in effigy in Milwaukee. Late in the season, during a slump, he, himself, observed that the "pallbearers" or newsmen waited for him in droves after each loss.

Haney's character is misleading in his face-to-face talks with newsmen. The players say he's fiery and a hard loser, sometimes taking 15 minutes to "cool off" after a defeat.

But, when surrounded by newsmen, he talks in a whisper and hardly seems hardboiled.

Li'l Leaguer

"We'd better make this a short pass . . . These eggs are for your mom, too!"

Celtics, Hawks Set for NBA Season Opener

NEW YORK (UP)— The Boston Celtics and the St. Louis Hawks will pick up where they left off last spring when they meet at St. Louis next Tuesday night in the opening game of the 1957-58 National Basketball Association season.

The Celtics captured the Eastern Division pennant last season and then won their first world championship by defeating the Hawks, 125-123, in double overtime in the seventh game of the final playoffs.

A total of 288 games will be played in the pro circuit this season, with each of the eight member teams engaging in 72 contests.

The Boston-St. Louis game is the only contest scheduled next Tuesday night. The following night the Hawks play the New York Knickerbockers and the Celtics meet the Detroit Pistons in a doubleheader at Detroit.

The Philadelphia Warriors, with Tom Gola back from Army service, open their season against the Nationals at Syracuse on Oct. 25. All eight teams will be in action Oct. 26, with Boston at New York, Philadelphia at Detroit, Minneapolis at St. Louis, and Syracuse at Cincinnati.

In Line for GM Job of Indians

CLEVELAND (UP)—The Cleveland Indians will announce their new general manager within the next three weeks, and the man probably will be Bill DeWitt — if he wants the job.

The Indians are waiting for board Chairman William R. Daley to return from Europe before making the announcement. Daley is due back in two weeks and club President Myron H. Wilson said "we would like to make the announcement as quickly as possible" after Daley returns.

DeWitt, 55, has served as an executive with the St. Louis Cardinals, St. Louis Browns and the New York Yankees. He now is coordinator of the major leagues' Fund for Aid to Minor League Clubs.

"I haven't heard from anyone on the Cleveland club," said DeWitt at his home in St. Louis. "I consider the job I have now a good one and I would have to do a lot of considering if another offer did come along."

Blaik Worried Over Army's Mental State

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UP) — Army Coach Earl (Red) Blaik today was concerned about the mental attitude of his players for Saturday's game with powerful Pittsburgh.

Physically, the Cadets came through last week's Notre Dame defeat without any serious injuries. But mentally they still lack that old-time Army drive.

"I've never known them to take so long bouncing back," said Blaik, who feels the Cadets should be aching to avenge that Notre Dame setback.

"If they don't rebound, Pitt will give us a bad licking," the veteran Army coach predicted.

Blaik has studied his scouting reports on the Panthers all week and admits Army may not be able to contain Pitt's two fullbacks—Fred Riddle and Bob Stark.

"Those fellows remind me of a couple of fullbacks Jock Sutherland had on his 1932 Pitt team, Heinie Weisenbach and Izzy Weinstock," Blaik declared.

For those who believe in omens, that 1932 Pitt squad beat Army, 18-13, at the Point.

Coach John Michelosen of the Panthers already has indicated that his boys may do more passing this weekend. So, too, will the Cadets, according to Blaik.

"Pittsburgh has more and better backs than Notre Dame and they are bigger in the line," he said. "But we hope to get around them and maybe move the ball some on passes."

Dave Bourland, the tall Texas quarterback, will direct the Cadets' aerial show. Bob Anderson, who scored two touchdowns against Notre Dame, will start at right halfback, Pete Dawkins will be at left half, and Vin Barta at fullback.

Devotional Program At Bethany Meeting

Mrs. Jennie Beeler and Mrs. Tillie Houseman conducted the devotional period to open the Tuesday evening meeting of the Bethany Bible Class Aid of the Marion Presbyterian Church.

The session was in the social rooms of the church, and the program began with the group singing of "What A Friend We Have in Jesus". Mrs. Houseman read the scripture and a poem, "His Father's Care." After the Lord's Prayer the women joined in singing "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

The special prayer for President Eisenhower was offered by Mrs. Ella Liptrot.

Mrs. Russell Cope conducted the business session and a social hour followed. Mrs. Margaret Trader and Mrs. Minnie Mullen served luncheon.

Moose Lodge Membership Drive Set

A membership campaign has been planned on a local level by the Loyal Order of Moose 209. It will be conducted in conjunction with a national campaign now in progress.

Governor William Wisniski is in charge of the activity. On a national level awards earned by the members include 16 new automobiles to be given one monthly until August of 1958.

Locally the awards earned will be cash and also tickets for Twin Coaches on Nov. 10, when Liberace will be featured in the floor show.

At a recent session the men planned to serve wieners and sauer kraut at the lodge rooms next Sunday beginning at 7 p.m.

Also at this session a newly elected trustee, Zygmund Wisniski, took his oath of office. Later buffet refreshments were served.

Regular lodge meetings were set for the first and third Wednesdays of each month.

Vernon Canteen Dance Is Cancelled

Mrs. Georgia Naccarato and Mrs. Hilda Borsotto, co-chairmen of the Vernon Junior High School canteen committee, announced last night that there will be no dance on Saturday evening.

The cancellation was made necessary when the Bellmar High School-Rostraver High School football game was postponed from last night until Saturday night.

The dances which are sponsored by the Bellmarette Band Boosters will resume on Oct. 26.

Legion Auxiliary To Meet Tonight

The October meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to Belle Vernon American Legion post 659 will be held this evening in the meeting room of the post home.

Mrs. Mary Ferrari, president, will be in charge of the business session, which will be followed by a social hour and refreshments.

Howard Opfar Addresses Washington Twp. Lions

Howard Opfar, burgess of Fayette City, was guest speaker at the Wednesday evening meeting of the Washington Township Lions Club in the Marion Presbyterian Church. He told of a recent trip to France, which he and his wife made.

Burgess Opfar was a guest of the French government as part of a LaFayette anniversary celebration in which a number of Americans participated.

The program followed the serving of a 6:30 dinner by the women of the church. Emil Dolfi, president, conducted the session, and invocation was by Thompson Kirby.

Routine reports were given and James Jesick announced that the turkey project was progressing.

Halloween Fetes

Harry S. Muckle Jr. reported that plans were underway for the annual Halloween celebration for the township children. It will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 29, at Marion Junior High School at 7 o'clock. Everyone is to be in costume and prizes will be given along with a treat.

Ted Bishop reported on the Halloween party planned for the Lions and their guests at the Blue Top Hotel on Oct. 31. All who attend are asked to come in costume, and the festivities will begin at 9 o'clock.

The men will distribute Christmas baskets to the needy.

Lion Tamer Lloyd Lazzari was presented with a gift from the group with William Reich making th presentation.

The program was arranged by Jess Murray and C. J. Goodworth, who showed a hunting film.

Mrs. Steward Wells Entertains Club

Mrs. Steward Wells of Graham St. was hostess to members of the Jolly Club at her home on Tuesday evening.

Two tables of five hundred were in play.

Winning the high score prizes were Mrs. Mabel Stedman, Mrs. Julia Nesti, Mrs. Marion Gauden and Mrs. Mabel Yeaton.

Luncheon was served and plans were made to meet in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Olive Palfrey.

Monessen Pastor Reviews Book for Family Night

The Rev. Abner P. Richard Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Monessen, reviewed the book, "Mission U. S. A." by James W. Hoffman, associate editor of Presbyterian Life, on Wednesday evening at the First Presbyterian Church of Belle Vernon.

The occasion was the annual family night observance held by the Women's Missionary Society.

Mr. Richard discussed the author's belief that there are two sides to every church today, and as the chapters of the book unfolded, he related the problems of the World Church, migrant workers, ministry to displaced persons and ministry in the industrial area. He also discussed the effects of education on religion and stated, "Educated persons, who have not found Christ, are the greatest threat to Christianity today."

Worship Service

The worship service was conducted by Mrs. Clifford G. Dickson, who used the theme of the year, "Christ's Way Every Day," and continued with this month's subject, "Worship in Word and Deed." She took scripture from the book of Matthew, and then illustrated the verses of well known hymns with colored slides. Mrs. Harold Toner assisted in showing the slides.

The program was concluded with the showing of several pictures taken of the recent groundbreaking ceremonies at the site of the construction of the new church building.

The meeting began with the serving of a covered dish supper at 6:30 o'clock with places laid for 40 members and guests. Fall leaves and chrysanthemums were used in table decorations. Invocation was by Mr. Richard.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Constance Cullier, Mrs. J.D. Waugaman, Mrs. C. L. Melenyzer, Mrs. Earl F. Willson and Mrs. Fred Shearer.

Friendly Club Is Entertained At Gibson

Mrs. Irene Umbel recently entertained for members of the Friendly Club at her home in Gibson.

Games provided the diversion and those winning prizes were Mrs. Eve Nicholas, Van Voorhis; Mrs. Penny Frere of Gibson; Mrs. Tena Zelinsky of Van Voorhis and Mrs. Dolores Eland of Fairhope.

There was a business session during which new rules were set up for operating the club. A covered dish dinner was planned for Nov. 8 at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Wisneski of Gibson.

On Oct. 5 the club members attended the showing of The Ten Commandments.

Mrs. Umbel served refreshments at the close of the evening, and another session was planned at the Nicholas home for Oct. 25.

Washington Twp. PTA Will Meet Monday

The Washington Township Parent Teacher Association will meet on Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of Marion Junior High School for the October meeting in the form of a Halloween party.

Members are asked to come masked and prizes will be awarded for the funniest, prettiest, ugliest and most original attire. There will be a guest prize presented during the social hour.

The program during the evening will be highlighted by a talk by Robert VanBremen, supervising principal of the Bellmarette Joint Schools.

Darlene Johnston Will Be Twirler

Darlene Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnston of Jones St., a freshman at Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia, has been chosen as one of the twirlers with the band.

A graduate of Bellmar High School, where she was an honor student; Miss Johnston was head majorette with the Bellmar High School Band.

Marion Junior High Dance Cancelled

There will be no dance at the Marion Junior High School this evening, since classes are suspended in the schools due to illness. Canteen dances are expected to resume next Friday under the sponsorship of the Washington Township Parent Teacher Association.

---

Dennie McDonald of Belle Vernon is a medical patient in the Monongahela Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Anna Fleming of 26 Johnson St. is confined to her home by illness.

Members of Daffy Club Entertained

Elaine Green of Lynnwood was hostess to members of the Daffy Club at her home on Wednesday evening. Two tables of five hundred were in play.

High score awards were won by Anna Jean Laird, Mercy Green and Elaine Green. The special prize was won by Jennie Ciferno.

Luncheon was served, and plans were made for the next meeting to be held at the home of Teff Grados. It will be a Halloween celebration in the form of a "Come As You Are Party."

J&L Earnings Set a Record

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. reported today the highest nine-months sales and earnings in its 104-year history.

Steel Leader Warns Against U. S. Ownership

CHICAGO (UP) — Joseph L Block, president of Inland Steel Co., warned Wednesday night the steel industry must constantly guard against the long - range threat of government ownership

Block said the threat arises from dangers of insufficient capital to expand fast enough to meet demand, unchecked inflation and "inadequate public and employe relations." He spoke at a regional meeting of the American Iron & Steel Institute.

The steel official said he doubted industry earnings were good enough at present to attract the capital needed for the "gigantic expenditures which will be required."

He noted that only in the last two "extremely good" years for the industry has its earnings come up to the average of all industry.

Block said even last year a comparison of earnings of leading steel companies with other industrial leaders showed it still is among the "poor relations" in the family of vital industries.

To Plan Merger Of State Bureaus

SUPPORT—
"The Party For You - Not Just A Few"

★ ★ ★

As in the past, the Westmoreland County Democratic Committee is vitally interested in presenting all the campaign facts to the voters. It is hoped that these facts will be of assistance to you when you cast your ballot on November 5.

★ ★ ★

These Are The Facts -- Not Fiction

—TAX SUMMARY—

Despite the increasing costs of living, your county bonded debt has been reduced from $5,527,000 to zero. And your millage rate has been reduced from 8½ to 8 mills in 20 years under the Democrats.

Lower County tax millage, No County debt.

—REDUCED CRIME RATE—

From four to five weeks of criminal court work, the present crime rate in the county requires only one to two weeks, and there are very few murders or serious crimes among the cases.

Good government makes good citizens.

—SUPERB DELINQUENCY RECORD—

While some areas are bemoaning the problem of juvenile delinquency, our county can be proud of one of the finest records in the country. The delinquency figure for the county last year was .38/100 of one percent of all our schools.

There will be good citizens tomorrow.

—THE FRIEND OF LABOR—

Despite the Republican opposition, the Democrats have provided the following advantages for the workers: Workmen's Compensation and Occupational disease laws; Unemployment Compensation; Safety Inspection; Workmen's Rehabilitation; and the Fair Employment Practice Commission.

If ever labor needed its friends, it needs them now.

—LEADING FARM LEGISLATION—

Maintained the parity ratio at 100% and tried to give necessary price supports, fought against the G O P "sliding scale" system, trying to establish a workable "soil bank" program, trying to give the farmer relief from G O P credit squeeze.

Democrats want everyone to prosper, not just big business.

—BUILDING BETTER ROADS—

Under Republicans in the state, Westmoreland County was allocated $8,639,353 from 1951 - 1954. In present Democratic administration, there is now completed, $17,897,699 in roads and there is an additional $12,000,000 on the boards for $30,200.00 in four years.

Good Roads make for good commerce.

—FLOOD CONTROL BENEFITS—

Ask the residents of Greensburg who are getting the Jack's Run project and the people of New Kensington and Jeannette who are finally getting relief from flood waters, what it means to have understanding Democrat leaders in all levels of government.

Lives, Property and Money now being saved.

—ALL TIME RECORD for THE PEOPLE—

The Democratic party made history with its all-time benefits for the people. Can you ever forget rural electrification, Social Security, Federal Bank Control Acts, World War I and II and Korean War Bonus programs and increased Civil Rights?

Leadership in benefits for you . . . not just a few.

—FAITH IS JUSTIFIED—

As proof of the Democratic Party's great record for the people, the Registration majority has increased each year to an all time high of some 51,000 at this time. Let's vote our registration.

It has been shown, that the people cannot be fooled by campaign oratory. The Democratic party has placed its confidence in the people themselves—and this faith has been justified by the registration and voter returns each year.

Wash. Co. Campaign Seen Dull

Most Washington County voters believe they are in for one of the dullest elections within memory.

With less than three weeks remaining before the Nov. 5 general election, the usual signs of a political campaign are lacking.

There are few rallies to stir up party workers. Newspaper advertising, a usual sign of a healthy campaign, has been sparse.

Even car stickers, which make two annual appearances, once before the primary and once before the general election, are hard to find.

Not that there isn't anything to vote on Nov. 5.

Three Offices at Stake

Three county offices are at stake and three Democratic incumbents are all seeking to return to office. They are Sheriff Grant Furlong, Donora, seeking his fourth term, Recorder of Deeds John D. Woodward, Charleroi, seeking his third term, and Controller Peter Elish, seeking his second term.

The Republicans arrayed against this trio are Joseph Daugherty, Finleyville, for sheriff, Harold C. Balmer, Cross Creek, for Recorder, and William C. Masters, Peters Township, for controller.

The Democrats, of course, hold their usual commanding lead going into the Nov. 5 election. There are 68,308 registered Democrats and only 33,831 Republicans. These, together with 394 miscellaneous registrations, gives a grand total of 102,533 persons eligible to vote. In view of the light campaigning, a light vote of perhaps 60 percent of the registration will not be surprising.

If interest lags at the county level, however, the same cannot be said in various local elections including those in the City of Washington and in the Boroughs of Charleroi and Donora.

In Washington, two council seats are up for grabs that are now held by Democrats George H. Krause and Allan Schultz. Schultz lost in the primary to Steve A. Shook, who, together with Krause, opposes Republicans William E. Amos and Robert J. Abel, Nov. 5.

The election results cannot, however, swing the balance of Republican power in city government, represented by Republican Mayor T. S. Fitch and Councilman Fay K. Eakin and John B. Ward Jr.

In Charleroi, Burgess James W. McGuire lost in the primary after 12 years in office to his Democratic opponent Frank C. Cantoni, school teacher and squire. Fred Miller, a Pittsburgh Steel employe is the Republican nominee for burgess in Charleroi where the Democrats lead in registration nearly 2 to 1.

The complicating factor in the river borough, however, is the report that McGuire will run for burgess on a sticker and write-in basis. Cantoni beat McGuire by only about 100 votes in the primary and McGuire's entrance into the race could create a tight three-way battle.

In Donora, also heavily Democratic, the Democratic nominee for burgess is Albert Delsandro, who defeated Councilman John Marasovich for the nomination by about 300 votes. Another 1,000 votes went to two other candidates in the field.

Marasovich, though, picked up the Republican nomination in the primary on a write-in basis and will again oppose Delsandro in the Nov. 5 battle.

Plane Slides to Safe Stop at Pittsburgh Field

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A Northwest DC6 passenger plane slid to a safe stop at Greater Pittsburgh Airport Friday night after a landing gear collapsed when it hit the runway.

None of the 29 passengers and four crewmen aboard was injured.

The plane was enroute from Washington, Pittsburgh and the West Coast.

William Arnold, the pilot, said he was coming in for a normal landing and anticipated no trouble.

An airline spokesman said the plane settled down on its underside and skidded to a stop after the landing support collapsed.

Passengers were rerouted to their destinations.

Airline officials gave no explanation for the collapse of the landing gear.

OFF THE BEATEN FLYWAY

NORTH LONG BEACH, Calif. (UP)—Three-year-old Stanley Edward Phillips, found after a three-hour nighttime search, had a ready excuse for his mommie. "I followed a duck," he explained.

'NUFF SAID

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, opened his news conference Thursday night by inviting questions on any subject. The first question was about James Hoffa and the Teamsters' Union. "No comment," answered Meany promptly.

Can you answer these questions about taxes?

Q: Do you pay taxes in your electric bill?

A: Yes. In fact, about 23¢ out of every dollar on the average family electric bill goes for taxes.

Q: Does everyone pay this much tax in his electric bill?

A: No. Several million American families and businesses pay a far smaller tax—only a fraction of the tax you pay.

Q: Who are these "privileged" people?

A: People who get electricity from federal government electric systems.

Q: Why don't they pay the same taxes you pay?

A: A strange twist in federal law exempts them from paying most of the taxes in electric bills that you pay—because they get their electricity from federal electric systems.

Q: Isn't that unfair? Shouldn't every American pay his fair share of taxes?

A: Yes. American standards of fair play call for each citizen to pay his fair share of taxes.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Mary Kanchuga, who died three years ago today, October 18, 1954.
She passed away three years ago,
The one we loved so well,
We miss her face once all aglow,
Far more than words can tell.
Her smiling face we cannot see,
It has gone forevermore.
But it still exists in memory
And will 'till we meet on the other shore.
Sadly missed by son, Joseph and Family.

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, John Ursinyi, who passed away 19 years ago, October 17, 1938.
Memories are treasures no one can steal.
Death leaves a heartache no one can heal;
Loved dearly in life and living yet
In the hearts of the ones who will never forget.
Sadly missed by his Wife, Sons and Daughters.

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Charles Skurla, who died 10 years ago today, October 18, 1947.
You are not forgotten, father,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed by Wife, Sons and Daughters.

Shower Is Held Recently for Miss Yelanich

Dorethea Yelanich, who will become the bride of Michael Rocco, Jr. at a ceremony in St. Edward's Catholic Church, Fayette City, Saturday, Nov. 9, was honored by more than 100 friends at a prenuptial shower in the church social rooms on Tuesday evening. The room was decorated in rainbow colors, the same color scheme to be used at her wedding. A table filled with gifts featured a brightly decorated umbrella and watering can.

Hostesses were the groom's mother, Mrs. Michael Rocco, Sr., his sister, Mrs. Gloria Lint, bride elect's aunt, Mrs. Anna Arrow, and her mother, Mrs. Michael Yelanich.

Guests were present from Charleroi, Roscoe, Allenport, Brownsville, Newell, Stockdale and the Fayette City area.

Miss Yelanich is employed as secretary to the Coursin Real Estate and Insurance Company, Fayette City. Mr. Rocco is a teacher in the West Jefferson School District.

Fayette County Women to Meet

A delegation of members of the Fayette City Woman's Club will attend the Fayette County Federation Fall meeting in Connellsville tomorrow. The meeting will be held in the First Presbyterian church with the Connellsville Study Club as hosts.

Guest speakers will be Mrs. Woodrow Matteri, state president, and Mrs. H. Everett Sanford, district vice-president.

Other features will be a coffee break, 1 p.m. luncheon, and a travelog by Mrs. Joseph M. Forejt, past president of the Pennsylvania Nurses Association. Mrs. Prince Stone, president of the Fayette County Federation, will preside at the meeting.

Local Women At Guest Night

Six members of the Fayette City Woman's Society of Christian Service, Mrs. Alfred Makepeace, Mrs. Oliver Cope, Mrs. Christian Dryer, Mrs. Frank Devers, Mrs. John Stimmell and Mrs. Edwin Hindmarsh, were guests of the Perryopolis W.S.C.S. at the annual guest night held Thursday evening in Perryopolis Methodist Church. Mrs. Swaney, Monessen, Secretary of Promotion for the McKeesport District, was the speaker. She correlated the work of missions throughout the United States and its possessions with a talk on United Nations Day.

A social hour followed.

Mrs. Dryer Host To Methodists

The J. C. Class of Methodist Sunday School was entertained by Mrs. Christian Dryer at a regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the church social rooms. Mrs. Frank Devers, president, was in charge of devotions and business meeting.

Following the meeting, members participated in a quilting party. The quilt, when completed, will be turned over to the Woman's Society of Christian Service for sale at its annual Harvest Moon Festival Nov. 8, in the Community Center.

Conference Called

A special quarterly conference has been called by the Fayette City Methodist Church for 2 p.m. tomorrow. Dr. William Hogg, superintendent of the McKeesport District of the Pittsburgh Conference, will preside.

The conference has been called to conduct a vote in accordance with the Methodist Discipline on a question of purchasing additional church property.

Hospital Patient

Metro Smerzniak, South High St., is a patient in Monongahela Hospital, following an accident at Mathias Mine earlier this week. Smerzniak lost three toes when a machine he was operating fell over. No visitors have been allowed because of the flu quarantine.

Meeting Tonight

The annual election of officers will be held by the Fayette City Building Association when they meet this evening in the Community Center. Dr. Aland C. Dent, president, urges all members to be present for voting purposes.

Be Careful In Use of Nose Drops

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

No one likes to see a youngster suffer with a cold. Instinctively, parents do all they can to try to relieve his misery. This usually means inundating him with nose drops in an effort to open the blocked nasal passages.

However, I want to take a firm stand against this indiscriminate use of nose drops among children. It can do a lot more harm than good.

Continued use of nose drops in great quantity might eventually lead to a complete blocking of a child's nose. At this stage it is virtually impossible to halt the nose drop practice abruptly. Sedatives might even be required as the nasal medication is slowly terminated.

Generally, vasoconstrictors such as ephedrine and others don't set well with young children and infants. Sometimes they overstimulate the youngster. Occasionally, they might even bring on convulsions.

Even with older children, the nose dropper should not be used too often. If it is, the membranes might swell more and more after the nose is initially opened and blocked nasal passages might be the result.

Now don't misunderstand:

I'm not saying nose drops should never be used by children. They are useful in opening up a nose congested by swollen membranes. But they actually are a medication. As such it's up to your doctor to decide whether they should be used by your children.

If he does recommend their use, make sure you give them to the child in the correct manner.

Place the youngster on a bed or chair with his head hanging over the side. Let him remain in this position for a couple of minutes after you instill the drops.

Giving him the medication while he is sitting or standing does little, if any, good.

Question and Answer

L. H.: What causes excessive yawning?

Answer: Excessive yawning is probably due more to the formation of a habit than to anything else. I do not believe there is any great harm in such a habit, although it is likely to be a little troublesome. Air swallowing, such as occurs in nervous individuals, no doubt is a contributory factor.

Killed in Crash

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—James B. Stevenson, Larimer, Westmoreland County, was killed today when his automobile struck the rear of a tanker truck on Route 22 on Short Mountain, five miles east of here.

Stevenson, who was retired, was alone in his car.

Eskimos, migrating from North America more than one thousand years ago, were Greenland's first residents.

Star Follows Oregon Trail in Sports Car

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Bob Horton, co-star with Ward Bond on TV's "Wagon Train," made a bid for authenticity this summer by following the Oregon Trail in a new sports car.

The actor covered the ground leisurely. In five days. But the old covered wagon trains managed the 1,600 miles from St. Joseph, Mo., to the promised land in five months.

Young Horton admits he was disappointed in not finding any traces of the historic trains.

"Nearest thing to historical landmarks are the cities along the route," he said. "Almost every town I passed through was celebrating its centennial. And a lot of the places were settled by pioneers who dropped out of the wagon trains to tame the land."

Of T-Shirt School

Horton is a handsome newcomer and first of the torn "T" shirt school of actors from New York's Actors Studio to climb into the saddle on a fulltime basis. Though he plays an uncomplicated Western scout in the series, Bob delves deeply into the wonders of psychiatry and its effects on sensitive type actors.

He even frets about the people who originally came West.

"I can't understand what their motivation was," he frowned. "I studied the countryside carefully, and it's hard to believe anyone could survive a trip like that.

"The desert region around the Great Salt Lake was worst of all. I never saw anything so bleak."

Neon-Lighted Skies

Where early settlers saw only trackless prairie and limitless horizons, Horton found super highways, prospering farms and burgeoning cities. One-hundred years ago, the night skies were dark and serenaded by coyotes. Horton found neon lights and juke boxes.

Bob zipped by at a 70-mile-an-hour clip. He covered as much territory in an hour as the old prairie schooners traveled in a week.

"On a good day, three-hundred wagons could make 15 miles—from dawn 'til nightfall," he went on. "Our NBC series is paced along the same line. The whole 39-week series is based on a single wagon train, telling about individuals making the trek.

"I found what I was looking for on my trip," he concluded. "I got the feel of the land and a sense of the rugged people who settled it. But there's little true evidence that wagon trains ever passed that way."

Jeannette Firm Sued for $200,000

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Lite-Mor Electrical Mfg. Corp., West Mifflin, Allegheny County, has filed a $200,000 damages suit against a Jeannette competitor.

The suit alleged the National Plastics Corp., of Jeannette, tried to run Lite-Mor out of business. Jack H. Millstein, of Greensburg, also was named a defendant.

The petition contended a third company, Wesa Mfg. Co., of Punxsutawney, withheld parts, dies and other supplies from Lite-Mor on instructions from National Plastics. It also alleged National Plastics converted to its use certain parts originally stamped for Lite-Mor.

Lite-Mor accused National Plastics of injuring its reputation, restricting its credit and depriving it of suppliers.

World of TV—

Crosby to Return to TV 'Spec'

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—The channel swim...

You can expect to see Bing Crosby back on TV in another live spectacular this season. Crosby's happy caper on last Sunday's "Edsel Show" sparked an offer from CBS-TV for another special one-shot in December. One - half sponsorship already is firmed up.

ABC-TV is hot for an Orson Welle's half-hour drama show—the network hopes to launch it in January for Sunday showing...CBS-TV landed Judith Anderson for the lead in its January spec, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey."

Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz are filming exteriors for their third CBS-TV special outside Las Vegas—Fred MacMurray and June Haver will star in The Vehicle... Georgie Jessel hopes to crack back into TV with a filmed interview show for National Telefilm Associates.

Mrs. Roosevelt Booked

Eleanor Roosevelt, originally scheduled for the ABC-TV Mike Wallace interview show this Saturday, was yanked off when NBC-TV's "Meet the Press" complained it had booked her in for Sunday. Mrs. Roosevelt now is scheduled to tangle with Wallace on Nov. 23.

Kate Smith, whose daily 25-minute Mutual radio show is expected to debut around Jan. 6, will concentrate on chatter and interviews rather than music. Mutual, incidentally, is torn between two titles for the new show—if it comes on in the morning, they may call it "Coffee with Kate," but if it winds up an afternoon show, they probably will go with "Tea with Kate."

NBC-TV's "Howdy Doody" marks its 10th anniversary Dec. 28... "Strike It Rich" is about to be interred by CBS-TV after an eight-year run...

Elisabeth Fraser, the blonde who plays Sgt. Bilko's girl friend in the CBS-TV Phil Silvers Show, has a role in the forthcoming clicker, "Tunnel of Love"...Red Skelton is busy mapping out a nation-wide tour of theatres in which he'll combine pantomime with the mood music of David Rose.

Allen to Spoof

Steve Allen, whose NBC - TV show was clobbered by the CBS-TV "Edsel Show" last Sunday, will do a comedy spoof this Sunday of a car called "The Pretzel."

Guy Lombardo cancelled $10,000 in bookings to play Manhattan's Commonwealth Ball for Queen Elizabeth this Monday. He even bought his band new tuxedos.

Volunteer Asks Wrong Person

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. (UP)—A young man from Pennsylvania asked the wrong person here for information on how to join the Army.

Herman Courtright, 19, of Aleppo, Greene County, strolled into the Marshall County jail and asked Jailer Atla Hubbs how he could enlist. The next thing Courtright knew, he was behind bars.

The jailer recognized the youth's name from a list of indictments returned by the Marshall County grand jury last week. He and his six brothers were wanted for malicious wounding. The other brothers are still at large.

The famous patriotic painting, "Spirit of '76", was the work of Archibald M. Willard, Ohio artist and wagon decorator. In 1876 the painting was exhibited at the Philadelphia Centennial exposition. It was presented to Abbot Hall, Marblehead, Mass., by Gen. J. H. Devereux, a railroad executive whose son posed as the drummer boy.

Segregation Posing Great Problem For Churches, Especially in South

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — "The churches of America are being weighed and tested by their response to racial segregation. If they remain in the rear in the struggle for justice, they may... cease to be the living church of Christ through which God speaks and acts."

These are the words of The Rev. Dr. Clifford J. Earle of Philadelphia, executive secretary of the Social Action Department of the Presbyterian Church U.S.A. He must believe them strongly, for he said them at a place and time where they were not easy to say—in the pulpit of a Presbyterian church at Little Rock, Ark., early this month.

Many ministers, in the south as well as the north, share Dr. Earle's conviction that the segregation controversy has brought American churches to a place where they have often arraigned other elements of society — the judgment bar of God.

The agony of conscience which thousands of clergymen are experiencing on this subject is clearly evident in church publications ...in the formal resolutions of denominational conferences ... and above all, in the private conversations that take place whenever a group of ministers meets.

Brands Segregation A Sin

Whether segregation is morally defensible is not the primary topic of these soul - searching sessions. The vast majority of northern ministers, and a substantial number of southern ministers, are personally in agreement with the declaration of the National Council of Churches and major denominational bodies branding segregation a sin.

The big question, especially for southern ministers, is whether the church should be prophetic or prudent in upholding the Christian ideal of brotherhood.

An earnest young pastor, who serves the largest Methodist church in one city of the deep South, expressed the quandary in which many southern church leaders find themselves.

"I would like very much to stand up in that pulpit next Sunday and say what I really believe about race relations," he told this reporter. "It would ease my own conscience. But what would it do to my congregation? One or two of them might agree with me — they do already. The rest would turn against me, and possibly against the church as well. I would lose any chance I may have of leading them slowly into a more Christian attitude toward Negroes."

This is the prudent approach, which most southern ministers apparently have decided to take. It is based on the belief that the church cannot attack segregation head-on in the present climate of southern feeling without alienating itself completely from the people it seeks to shepherd.

Church Must Speak Out

Behind it is the faith, or the hope, that southern Christians will gradually come to accept the implications of their religion in race relations—if they are not driven to a hasty emotional choice between giving up their ties with the church or giving up their deeply-ingrained feelings about segregation.

Advocates of the prophetic approach believe that the church must speak out on segregation today in the same bold, uncompromising voice that the prophets of ancient Israel used in denouncing the social evils of their day.

To count the cost of such a stand, they say, is unworthy of a body whose founder followed his own convictions to a cross.

This viewpoint is more common —and easier to expound—in northern pulpits. But it has also been eloquently expressed by a southern minister.

"Churches must recognize the urgent necessity of taking a forthright stand on this crucial issue," he said. "Christians must decide whether they will obey the eternal demands of the almighty God, or whether they will capitulate to the transitory demands of the defendants of segregation."

The author of that statement, Dr. Martin Luther King, knows how much it will cost any southern clergyman who takes his advice. His own home was bombed last year when he led the Negroes of Montgomery, Ala., in a "passive protest" against segregation on city buses.

Flu Deaths on Increase; All Areas Affected

By UNITED PRESS

Deaths blamed on influenza continued to mount today and health officials reported the Asian flu virus now has stricken all sections of the nation.

The worst flu epidemics have killed 13 patients at schools for the retarded in Illinois and Pennsylvania. Outbreaks also were reported in similar state schools near Spokane, Wash., and at Union Grove, Wis.

The death toll at the Dixon, Ill., school for the retarded climbed to seven yesterday, and officials said it might hit 30 before the epidemic subsides.

A total of 1,278 inmates were stricken, with four of them listed in critical condition and 24 regarded as acutely ill.

In Pennsylvania, a flu outbreak resulted in death for six children at the Pennhurst State Training School near Philadelphia.

A United Press count since the start of the week showed at least 36 deaths blamed on flu and complications. There were eight each in Pennsylvania and Illinois, four in Michigan, three each in Indiana and New Jersey, and two each in Iowa, Ohio, Utah, Wisconsin and New York.

Earlier, the U.S. Public Health Service estimated more than 1,500,000 persons hit by the flu since the first outbreak of Asian flu last summer. At least 360,000 of the cases came last week alone.

College and high school students appeared to be most susceptible to the disease. More than a dozen collegiate football games were cancelled or postponed this weekend due to campus flu epidemics.

In Pennsylvania, the flu outbreak at the Pennhurst school was reported on the wane, but another epidemic of a "mild form" of influenza affected 600 of 850 patients at the Laurelton State Village for mentally retarded women.

District Breeder In Guernsey Club

A. J. Celestine of Elsview Farm, Scenery Hill, has been elected to membership in the American Guernsey Cattle Club, an organization serving over 40,000 Guernsey breeders throughout the U. S.

Celestine started with Guernseys in 1941 and now owns 41 head. He hopes to maintain about the same number.

Celestine is a member of the Pennsylvania State and Washington County Guernsey Breeders Associations has shown his Guernseys at the Greene, Washington and Allegheny county fairs.

Cooler, Clear Air Expected

By UNITED PRESS

Cool and dry air was expected to move into Pennsylvania today, replacing the rain and mild temperatures that dominated most of the state this week.

Partial clearing was forecast for the western half today and clearing in eastern regions tonight. High temperatures today were expected to reach the low 60s in northwestern areas and the mid 60s in the southeast. Tonight's temperatures were expected to range in the 40s southeast and the mid 30s central and western portions of the state.

Saturday was expected to be generally cooler with high temperatures reaching the mid 50s northwest and low 60s southeast
